Fire Sweeps Closer to Homes of Movie Stars

ACTORS SET TO FLEE, FLAMES LEAP NEARER

600 Dwellings Already Ruined; Blaze Sweeps Toward Home of Shirley Temple.

400 FIREMEN ON DUTY

Moving Vans Prepare to Take Possessions of Famed Folk in Film Colony.

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES—A brush fire that has destroyed 600 homes today raged in Mandeville canyon where Shirley Temple and other movie stars live.

Four hundred city firemen and pump trucks were in the canyon attempting to keep the flames from the palatial residences.

Fire officials said that the blaze was within half a mile of some of the homes. It crept over a bridge from Sullivan canyon, the next one beyond, and slipped down the slope of Mandeville canyon

Start Back-Fires.

Crews started back-fires in an effort to keep the blaze from reaching the canyon floor and the 50 to 100 fashionable homes and estates.

Because there is plenty of water in Mandeville canyon, Fire Chief Ralph Scott said he was confident firemen could save the dwellings.

Sullivan canyon was virtually abandoned to the flames. All the forces concentrated on the new peril. Mrs. John Hay Whitney, the sportswoman, fled her home.

Shirley Temple's new home was near the mouth of Mandeville more than a mile from the flames. Shirley and her parents are in Palm Springs, Cal.

Other film stars have had moving vans waiting in their driveways since yesterday afternoon while they fearfully watched the approaching flames.

Mary Astor, Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond, Claudette Colbert, and Joan Crawford are among Shirley's film neighbors making their homes in Mandeville canyon.

They were ready to move out their possessions if the fire sweeps down the defile.

The flames endangering the Bel-Air suburb were on the southeast front of a brush fire that has been raging out of control since Tuesday in a 200-square mile area of the Santa Monica mountains

Duke Talks With Chamberlain, Told He Can End Exile

(By United Press)

PARIS—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor are welcome to return to England at any time, it was revealed today as Prime Minister Neville Chamberlin left for London after a conference with the former king of Great Britain.

A source close to the duke revealed that in conversation with his former monarch, who still is his close friend, Chamberlain declared that any ban on the duke's return to London is off and that there is "no political ban whatever" to a visit to England of the duke and his American-born duchess, the former Wallis Warfield Simpson.

Chamberlain further told the duke that no "financial sanctions" would be incurred by his return, meaning that the allowance granted to him by the royal family and sanctioned by the government would not be altered.

When the duke presented his duchess to Chamberlain in their hotel suite last night, he introduced her as "her royal highness."

Unofficial Paris circles speculated on whether the prime minister thus had tacitly recognized the royal status of the duchess, a point which has been the chief source of friction between the duke on the one hand and the royal family and British government on the other.

PUSSYWILLOWS BLOOM

SCRANTON, Pa.—(AP)—Mother Nature presented a strange paradox today in David J. Evans' yard. Snow which blanketed the ground seven inches deep also weighed down pussywillow plants in full bloom and a maple tree bearing its second crop of green leaves this season.

Cold Wave Keeps Grip On City, East Hit Hard

Worst Blizzard In Years Sweeps Seaboard; Snow Falls In Deep South.

One of the worst November cold waves in recent years gripped the Mansfield area and most of the eastern half of the nation today. In Mansfield the temperature fell to 14 degrees above zero, one of the lowest readings in the state.

Thanksgiving holiday motorists were stranded in many sections as snow and ice coated the highways and streets. Snowfall in Mansfield totaled about three and a half inches over the holiday, with approximately an inch falling Thanksgiving morning.

Gets Relief From Ice.

More snow and colder weather are due Saturday, the weather bureau said, but warm temperatures today were expected to melt a part of the ice-coating on streets and highways.

Automobiles skidded and performed strange antics on the ice-glazed streets in Mansfield and a number of minor collisions were reported to police.

D. D. Orewiler, superintendent of streets, said 50 tons of salt were spread over the streets at major intersections Wednesday and Thursday nights to combat the ice.

The worst blizzard in years, accompanied by a freak electrical storm, swept New York state and New England over the holiday, paralyzing traffic and causing at least 34 deaths throughout the east.

Snow Drifts In New York.

Huge drifts were piled in the streets of New York City, traffic was blocked in the outlying districts, scores were injured and several killed in accidents

Visibility was reduced at times to a few feet. A fierce electrical storm and a driving wind attended the snowfall which continued unabated through the night.

The storm struck the metropolis in mid-afternoon yesterday, during the height of holiday traffic. Sleet, turning to snow, was expected to continue throughout the day.

Airplanes were grounded, ships wallowed in heavy seas and trains were late.

At no time since Tuesday night has the mercury gone above freezing in Mansfield and the reading was 27 degrees at noon today as winter continued to hold the city in its grasp. The high yesterday was 30 degrees.

In upper New York state the snow was more than 10 inches deep and the temperature fell to eight degrees below zero in the

COPPER MAKES HIS OWN JOB

Former Patrolman Lines Up 10 to Pay His Wages, Becomes Special County Officer.

Harry Copper, former city patrolman who resigned from the police force five months ago, today had created a job for himself for at least two months as a special county officer.

Copper lined up 10 persons to pay his wages for the two months. He will be employed as a special juvenile investigator for the probate court and will take over his new duties Monday.

The appointment was made late Wednesday by Probate Judge C. J. Anderson who notified Police Chief Meade K. Bates that he was assigning Copper to work out of his office on "certain phases" of juvenile delinquency. The appointment expires Jan. 31, 1939 unless renewed

Judge Anderson wrote the chief that the assignment was made possible by "certain public-minded citizens who are taking care of the expense".

The 10 persons have agreed to pay $10 a month each for two months. The contributions were solicited by Copper who produced them to Judge Anderson as the basis for establishing the job.

Those listed as having made the donations are Judge Anderson, Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, Chief Bates, Mrs. W. W. Stark,

CRISIS NEARS

Polish Troops Moving Into Disputed Czech Area.

WARSAW—(INS)—Polish troops today began occupation of the ceded Czechoslovak territory of Czaca, bringing the quarrel between the Warsaw and Prague governments to a critical stage.

An official announcement said the occupation was begun "in order to secure respect for Polish rights."

The Polish army acted despite an agreement with Czechoslovakia under which the territory in question was not to be occupied until Dec. 1.

Coincident with this announcement, further anti-Jewish outbursts occurred at Warsaw university.

CAN'T STOP HIM

Railroader Leaps From Fast Train To Spend Holiday at Home.

BOURNE, Mass.—(INS)—Nothing could stop Cornelius Walters, 55, a railroad employe, from spending Thanksgiving day with his family.

When his train failed to slow down as it neared his home, Walters decided to get off anyway. The train was traveling 55 miles per hour.

Police found him home eating a hearty turkey dinner. He was a bit bruised.

Christmas In Air, Shopping Season Will Open Tomorrow

Tomorrow is the official opening of the "Merry Christmas" shopping season despite the fact that the calendar still says November.

Merchants are all ready with their Christmas stocks, which are unusually attractive this year, and from now on it will be a matter of the first shoppers having the pick of the entire lot.

Snow and the first cold weather, coupled with the fact that the downtown streets have been decorated for the holiday season, have given the town a festive, "Christmasy" atmosphere. Display windows—many of which have been decorated for the season—are filled with merchandise which provides suggestions for personal gifts of all kinds.

Last year was an example of putting off Christmas shopping until the last minute; the last few days before Christmas stores were jammed, clerks were frustrated and out-of-town shoppers had picked over the early stocks of Christmas merchandise. Merchants hope to avoid that situation this year by starting the shopping season a week earlier.

Some idea of what the stores are offering will be found in today's News-Journal, which carries a heavy volume of Christmas shopping ads.

Christmas decorations in the shopping district and around Central park, which never fails to impress visitors and people passing through the city, were put up by the Retail Merchants association. Hundreds of colored lights, strung across the streets, and in the Christmas trees around the fountain in the park, will be turned on at 7 p. m. tomorrow to mark the official opening of the Christmas season.

Pope Suffers a Heart Attack

Pope Pius suffered a serious heart attack this morning and a trustworthy Vatican informant said this afternoon that the holy father had been placed in an oxygen tent. The Vatican announced officially that his condition was improving this afternoon. The 81-year-old pontiff was stricken suddenly as he was about to leave his private apartment for an official anti-chamber for his daily round of private audiences.

Roll Call Reaches End, Quota Smashed to Bits

Membership Hits 9,000, Probably Will Go to 9,400, Far In Excess of Goal of 8,000.

Eight hundred tired but happy Red Cross Roll Call workers rested on their laurels today, having put their 1939 membership campaign over its quota by more than a thousand members, with several reports yet to be made.

Memberships reported late Wednesday night when the drive officially ended were 9,063, with $11,300 in cash. The membership goal had been set at 8,000.

W. J. Locke, general chairman of the Roll Call for the third successive year, said that when all of the precincts have reported, the memberships would probably total 9,400, topping last year's enrollment of 9,066, the highest since the World war.

Locke said that in spite of the fact there had been only 10 working days in the drive, the city and county districts had been canvassed remarkably well and that the public response had been most gratifying.

Exceed Their Quotas.

Almost all of the county districts made their quotas and in several instances showed remarkable gains. Plymouth and Plymout township, with a quota of $150, subscribed $230. Sharon, with a quota of $35, more than doubled it, contributing $80.

At the close of the campaign Wednesday night Shelby had re-

The order of the German eagle, first class, was conferred on Karl F Geiser, professor of political science at Oberlin college (Ohio), and Frederick K. Krueger, professor of political science at Wittenburg college.

Services for which the awards were made were not announced.

OBERLIN—(UP)—Karl F. Geiser, former chairman of the Oberlin college political science department, said today he knew of no reason why the German government should decorate him. He said he was undecided whether to accept.

SMOKE FILLS CELLS, 1,200 GIVEN SCARE

Inmates Receive Extra Holiday Thrill at O. S. R. as 100 Straw Mattresses Burn.

50 TRUSTIES AID FIREMEN

Damage Slight, Fire Believed Caused From Spontaneous Combustion.

Smoke caused from the burning of 100 mattresses filled with new straw gave 1,200 inmates at the Ohio State reformatory a scare late yesterday afternoon and served as an anti-climax for the Thanksgiving day observance at the institution.

The fire was confined to a shower room adjacent to the east cell block and resulted in little damage except for the mattresses which had been stored there only Wednesday.

Inmates Give Alarm.

Burning of new straw created a smudge and the smoke filled the cell block. Cries and shouts of inmates who smelled the smoke seeping under the closed doors of the shower room attracted reformatory guards. They summoned the Mansfield fire department at 4:30 p. m., shortly after the dinner hour.

Company No. 4, under the direction of Fireman John Schnoor were on the scene for nearly an hour and a half. The blaze was brought under control within half an hour. Firemen donned gas masks to enter the smoke-filled room to remove the mattresses.

More than 50 trusties augmented the city department with a bucket brigade after a supply of 200 gallons of chemicals in that section of the institution had been exhausted.

Smoke Pours From Room.

Smoke poured from the shower room for more than an hour and ventilators and doors in the cell block, said to be the largest single cell unit in the world, were opened to give inmates air. Confined in the three cell tiers, they huddled in blankets for protection from the sub-freezing temperatures.

Supt. Arthur L. Glattke said he believed the fire had started from spontaneous combustion.

He pointed out that there was little danger of the fire spreading to other parts of the institution because both the shower room and the cell block were of fireproof construction.

GANG'S VICTIM

Chicago Prohibition Gangster Killed by Assassins.

CHICAGO—(AP) — Thanksgiving day ended in death by assassination for Joseph "Red" Bolton, 40, a gangster of the turbulent prohibition era.

He was shot to death a few minutes before midnight as he turned into his apartment walk.

Police investigators said Bolton reputedly had operated a handbook and that the killing might be the outgrowth of a gambling feud.

Two years ago Bolton's brother, State Rep. John M. Bolton, was slain by gangland assassins.

Among those who heard the shots last night were Bolton's wife and 14-year-old daughter.

Tug Pulls Freighter After Battle With Seas.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The freighter Falmouth, which for several hours during the early morning had wallowed helpless in Long Island Sound, boobing momentarily into the vision of rescuers and then disappearing into a snowy mist, was put under tow of a private vessel today, the coast guard announced.

Coast guard officers said an unidentified tug had thrown a line to the Falmouth, during a time when low visibility had lost her to coast guard boats, and was towing her toward New York. She apparently had escaped serious damage, they added.

16 INJURED IN ACCIDENT WAVE

Slippery Streets Result in 31 Crashes in Vicinity; 8 in Hospital.

Snow and ice-coated Richland county highways brought injuries to 16 persons in an unprecedented number of accidents over the Thanksgiving day holiday.

Richland county, however, escaped the holiday traffic toll which resulted in the death of at least seven persons on treacherous highways throughout the state

Eight persons were in the General hospital today, one in serious condition as the result of four major crashes—one Wednesday afternoon in which three cars collided and four persons were injured.

In all 31 accidents were reported to police and the state highway patrol during the past 48 hours. State highway patrolmen investigated 12 crashes throughout the county while city police were called to the scene of 19 accidents within the corporation.

Most serious of those in the hospital is Mrs. Grace Eddy, 58, of Chesterland, Geauga county, one of four persons injured in a three-car accident on Lexington avenue at Edgewood road at 1:30 p m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Eddy, whose condition was described as "fair" today, is suffering from head, chest and leg injuries.

Others injured in the same accident and in the hospital are V. W. Eddy, 61, driver of one of the machines, and Miss Jewell Hill, 29, of Cleveland, a passenger in the car with Mr. and Mrs. Eddy, and Mrs. F. E. Kuentz, 42, of Cleveland. Hospital attendants reported all three in "good" condition today.

VATICAN FEARS FOR LIFE OF AGING PONTIFF

Prelate Suffers Heart Attack While in Private Chambers; Nurse Finds Him.

PHYSICIANS WORRIED

Administer Treatment, Delay Opinions on Chances of Surviving Ailment.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—An exchange telegraph (British News Agency) dispatch from Rome today said that Pope Pius had suffered a second stroke at 5:50 p. m. (11:50 a. m. EST) following his heart attack this morning. The dispatch said the Holy Father was unconscious for about 15 minutes.

(By International News Service)

ROME—Pope Pius XI was stricken gravely ill today as a result of a heart attack. Restoratives were administered immediately, and soon afterward the pontiff was placed in an oxygen tent.

An official bulletin issued by the Holy See announced:

"The Pope after celebrating mass was stricken unexpectedly with an attack of cardio-asthma which, for the moment, is ameliorating. Doctors Rocchi and Milani immediately gave assistance.

Stricken While Alone.

The pontiff, it was learned, was stricken while he was in the solitude of his private chapel. He might have died if not for the quick thinking of his male nurse, a Benedictine monk.

The monk who had been attending the Pope was in the next room when His Holiness suffered the attack. Hearing choking gasps, the monk dashed into the room and took in the situation at a glance. Then he rushed to summon aid.

Vatican doctors would not pronounce themselves on the pontiff's chances of survival. They said they must first see how the Holy Father reacts to prolonged treatment today and tonight.

The Pope, it was expected, will remain in the oxygen tent all day.

A special messenger of the vatican state department, it was officially announced, personally conveyed the news of the pontiff's illness to all the cardinals of the curia. Foreign cardinals, according to the official announcement, were not yet notified. (The curia is the papal government.)

Sister Not Admitted.

The doctors said there was every indication that injections and stimulants would have a restorative effect on the Pope, but beyond that they would not go.

One of the first persons to hasten to the Pope's bedside was his sister, Donna Camilla Ratti. But the Pope's condition made it impossible for her to gain admittance.

BLAZE KILLS 6

New York Family Wiped Out in Tenement House Fire.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y.—(AP)—An entire family of six persons—a 27-year-old mother and five children—was burned fatally today in a tenement house fire during a heavy snowstorm.

The victims were Mrs. Carrie Derosa, a widow of five months, and Edward, 9; Dorothy, 8; Carl, 6; James, 3, and Michael, 2.

Fire Chief Matthew J. Kavanaugh said he believed the family was huddled around a portable oil stove in the living room of a small second floor apartment when the heater exploded.

The father, James Derosa, was killed last July when he fell from a bridge on which he was working.

City's 1939 Tax Rate Drops But You'll Probably Pay More

Mansfield's 1939 real estate tax rate will be 15 mills, a reduction of .40 of a mill or 40 cents per thousand dollars property valuation from this year's rate, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said today.

The tentative rate figures for the year show that in the 26 major taxing districts in the county, rates will be lower in 14, higher in six and unchanged in six.

Although the city's rate will be lower next year, the total tax bill probably will be slightly higher than in 1938, due to a five per cent increase in the real estate valuations.

The lower rate in Mansfield is the result of the retiring of school bonds during the past year, while payments on the new $350,000 bond issue for the city's school building program will not be due until 1940

Also added to the city's rate in 1940 will be a half mill levy to provide funds for the care of the county tuberculosis patients

The school bonds will boost the rate about .63 of a mill, making total increase of 1.13 mills due in 1940. That increase will include both the school bonds and the tuberculosis levy.

New rates in the county range from 8.80 mills in Sharon township to 22.40 mills in Lexington village

The greatest drop is four mills in Bellville where the rate was cut from 21.40 to 17.40 mills. The decrease, the auditor said, is due to the expiration of a five-mill operating levy and the retirement of school bonds. The village voted renewal of a three-mill operating levy to absorb a part of the decrease resulting from the expiration of the old levy.

The largest increase is three mills in Sharon township, where

SENIORS SCORE IN PRESENTING 'THE YOUNGEST'

800 Witness First Dramatic Production of Season at High School.

Headed by Marguerite Miller and Donald Speakman, a cast of nine players from the January graduating class of Senior high school presented Phillips Barry's "The Youngest" Wednesday night before about 800 persons in the school auditorium.

One of Barry's better known plays, "The Youngest" is well adapted to a youthful cast, and as the high school's first dramatic production of the season forecast a successful year for the school's dramatic department. The cast was directed by E. L. Heasley.

The story centered in the reformation of Richard Winslow, youngest of the Winslow family of five children, by Nancy Blake, an understanding friend of the dominating Winslows.

Donald Speakman as Richard gave one of the best performances seen in a high school play here in recent years, and equally convincing was Marguerite Miller, who brought the necessary feeling and sympathy to the role of Nancy Blake who won the down-trodden Richard in the last act.

Richard Wins Out.

Dominated by his mother, brothers and sisters, and a brother-in-law, Richard refused to give up his ambition to be a successful writer, and with the encouragement of the smiling Nancy asserted his rights, recovered his dead father's fortune and became the head of the house.

Oliver Winslow, a brother, and Alan Martin, his brother-in-law, were played by Willis Lewis and Harlan Hedrick, respectively, who have been favorites with play audiences throughout their high school years.

Betty Bottomley as the mother of the Winslow children and sympathetic to them while they were deriding Richard, shifted her affections to him when he proved his worth.

Kay Glessner as the sprightly, sophisticated daughter, and Mary Bair as her well-intended but blundering sister, gave capable performances as they aided their two older brothers in "keeping Richard in his place."

William Gorby was sufficiently hateful as Mark Winslow, who refused to admit that his younger brother, Richard, could have any qualities.

Margery Buel was adequately subjective as the family maid.

His complaints led to arrest and trial of the two girls and Livermore for felonious impersonation.

ONCE RICH BENEFACTOR BROKE AFTER AIDING HALF MILLION

(By United Press)

NEW ORLEANS — William J. Warrington, 88, has given away a fortune to more than 500,000 homeless wanderers.

Today, he is as penniless as the shabby men who drift in and out of his 40-room ancestral mansion. Yet the white-haired Warrington directs his own "Warrington House," a women's center, a boys' home and a trades center.

Warrington finished an exclusive preparatory school in South Carolina nearly three-quarters of a century ago. He owned valuable coal property and two Louisiana plantations, booming in the days before the boll-weevil.

For lack of a career, he returned to New Orleans and recovered his ancestral property built more than a century ago by Jean Remarie on property deed by the king of France.

One day Warrington watched two boys—members of aristocratic Creole family — steal a peddler's wagon and race through the streets. Their fathers threatened to disown them and left them in the Cabildo, an old prison.

Warrington obtained their release and cared for them until they could obtain work. Gradually police and welfare organizations began sending him unfortunates for his 40-room mansion.

Long before the turn of the century, Warrington liquidated coal mines and his plantations. He made public appeals for assistance and spread his activities to the homes for women and boys and to the workshop.

Warrington's only permanent boarder is Hobo—a tan and white mongrel that wandered into Warrington House last winter.

ROMANCE, INC. + + +

By OREN ARNOLD

(Copyright, 1938)

READ THIS FIRST:

Sara Sue Davis, attractive young widow, with the aid of her mother-in-law, rents a cottage near the campus of Rice Institute, in Texas, in preparation for the launching of a unique business venture. Bob Towne, football end and campus hero, and some of the other students, are arrested by the new sign in front of the Davis cottage announcing a "COUNCIL IN ROMANCE." Sara Sue explains her Cottage Plan to a group of students and finds them greatly interested. Bob Towne even asks HER for a date. Against her better judgment, Sara Sue goes dancing with Senior Towne. She enjoys the evening, but as he leaves her he kisses her impetuously. When an insignificant-looking freshman, Worthington Gurley, enrolls in her club, Sara Sue is amused and interested. That evening a girl in a car stops in front of her house and insults the pretty widow.

CHAPTER 6.

EAGLE-EYED Calculus Jones had seen the car of the queer visitor, of course, and he identified it instantly. He came from the warm kitchen, where Cleopatra was baking cookies, and opened the front door to re-admit Sara Sue. Calculus liked to double as butler when the mood hit him

"That Miss Peaches Pomeroy's car, wasn't it, ma'am?" Calculus probed gently.

Sara Sue turned to him, eyes narrowing.

"Yes! Yes, Calculus. I couldn't imagine! But—it must be. Is she kind of tall? Dark eyes? Lips a triffle pouty? Very—pretty?"

"Yes'm. That Miss Peaches. She's repo'ted like that."

"Uhm. Thanks, Calculus."

The colored man retired again to his kitchen nook, and Sara Sue went to her room. Indignation had flared heavily in her for a few seconds. Indignation and curiosity. Nobody had insulted Sara Sue Davis like that since—well, never, in her memory. Who in the world was it, and why? But Calculus had known.

The incident upset her momentarily, more than she realized. She knew she had done nothing to occasion such an attack, in so offensive a manner. But she had had inklings of Miss Pomeroy's character from here and there, even though this was her first meeting with the campus beauty. Come to think of it, she identified Peaches now by remembering her portrait in last year's Campanile, the Rice yearbook. Peaches had made the beauty pages.

* * *

Well, Geraldine Pomeroy wasn't the first shrew who had been beautiful; and a clear conscience is an excellent panacea. Sara Sue quite sensibly went to bed She was tired. She expected to "think about things for at least an hour. In five minutes she was breathing deeply and in five minutes more Cleopatra awakened her.

"Lawdy goodness, Miss Sue, ain't you got no duties, ma'am?" The fat Negress giggled "Hit's goin' on 10 o'clock ma'am. Git up f'm there and eat you some breakfus'."

Twelve hours around the clock! It was indeed shameless, Sara Sue admitted. But then—the rain had maintained constant lullaby. Indeed, it was still dashing against her windows, although the sky was lighter than it had been yesterday afternoon.

Only a few students called that day. Bob Towne telephoned, four times. Worthington Gurley telephoned, then sent a telegram pleading for a date to take her to the first freshman dance. Most of the time, though, Sara Sue spent in making over an old dress, and in bossing Calculus at painting some yard chairs stored in her attic. "It won't rain forever, contrary to appearances," she had assured him.

Nevertheless, her assurances seemed invalid. Harris county, Texas, of which Houston is county seat, happens to have more range cattle in it than any other county in America, and the easterner's traditional misconception of the region is a high, arid, semi-desert, with many cactus plants, sand dunes and steer skulls bleaching in the Texas sunshine.

Actually Harris county is semi-tropical in verdure. The coastal plain there has the magnificent altitude of 50 feet, not 5,000. The football season sometimes is all drenched with rain. The grass and the vines and the shrubbery and the flowers all grow in such profusion as to make Houston one of the prettiest cities in the southwest, and the Spanish moss, moisture loving, drapes in great pennant-like festoons from the trees on the Rice Institute campus. Buffalo Bayou at Houston flows more water than many a more dignified "river" between Dallas and San Diego.

So, when the rain proved that it meant to keep on, nobody was surprised, and Houstonians soon resumed their normal routine By the second day people were ignoring the storm, which kept on that day and the next, and the next.

Registration for Rice classes, however, occupied the students full time during the interim. There is always a wrangling and a conferring about study schedules and such during those few opening days. From 4 to 6 p. m. Coach Jimmy Britt kept his men in the great field house, giving them intense physical workouts and "skull practice" even though they could not practice on the gridiron; Rice field is so drained that it will dry in a few hours, he knew, and so he had no worry.

* * *

Quite a few callers came to Sara Sue's cottage during the rainy days, and quite a few took membership in her Cottage Plan, or club, or whatever. A definite name for the establishment seemed not to have materialized yet, but no matter. Sara Sue's personality, and her cheery home with its big fireplace, and her eternal supply of cookies and coffee and tea, and the novelty of her idea, brought the young collegians in. One long house party. Sara Sue enjoyed it most of all. She liked to feel a part of Rice life. Especially did she enjoy the college talk.

"—the goofiest new professors, one in math with a mile-long degree and bow legs and—

"—Dr. Lovett's looking older, don't you think? And—

"—she said she wouldn't take the silly old biology even if she did need the credits, but Mr. McCann smiled—you know how sweet he is—and told her that—

"—but if Rice can win championships two years in a row it'll be the first time in conference history, which'll make—

"—the darlingest dress, my dear! A buff-colored material cut kinda like a dirndl but with—

"—rain just ruins a wave, and the first dance Friday, and—

"For Rice's honor, Rice's glo-ree-e-e-e,
We will fight on,
We will be fight-ing
When this day is done
And when-the-dawn-comes-we-will-still
Be fighting on, Rice,
For the gray and blu-u-u-u-u-e,
We'll all be loy-al,
To Rice be tru-u-u-u-u-u-u-ue!"

Sara Sue loved the college songs She loved "For Rice's honor" especially. She learned to sing it with the rest of them. She learned the famous "Yea Rice" and the scrappy "Rooti-ti-toot" yells. She heard the impromptu music and cheering in her living room almost every hour. It was all so grand, she told herself. She played the piano for them often. Sometimes Calculus sang comic songs, danced Negro solo numbers. Even Cleopatra occasionally favored with a high soprano—its timbre unlike that of any other race in the world. Mother Davis hovered motherly in the background, herself happy at the gaiety. How marvelous is youth, she thought.

Classes began at Rice, despite the rain, and the fall semester was well along on its routine when Sara Sue took time out on her fourth evening to check her records, count her funds, and sort of recapitulate her business, mentally speaking. The process involved some work. The last students had departed at 10 p. m., and at 11 p. m. she discovered that she had sold exactly 99 memberships! That excited her a trifle.

* * *

Ninety-nine customers for her Cottage Plan. She had agreed to accept just 100, no more. It would be all she could handle. She remembered, vividly, Customer No. 1. A handsome senior, Bob Towne, who instantly thought he had fallen in love with her! She wondered smiling, who Customer No. 100 would be.

She closed and locked her desk then, and undressed for her bath. The storm would break soon, she knew, and there would be parties to arrange, groups to chaperone, all manner of duties. She must get her rest, never neglect health.

Now it was good to be quiet and alone for the remainder of the night.

She was just stepping one foot tentatively into her tub of hot bath water when her front door chimes rang.

"Oh, goodness!" she muttered.

She thought to ignore it. But the chimes sounded again, and then again. Some insistent student: a thoughtless freshman, likely.

She threw a pretty blue-and-lace negligee around herself—a heavy silken thing—stepped into mules with pom poms on them, and went to the door.

First, though, she turned on the porch light, and peeped through her tiny door glass. It revealed a man's legs, definitely bowed, protruding from under a green umbrella.

Murphy Cagers Open Tough Card on Shelby Court Next Week.

ONE of the toughest basketball schedules ever tackled by a Mansfield high school quintet will be pried open by the 1938-39 edition of the Tygers at Shelby next week.

The 16-game card includes three state finalists, a number of district tournament finalists and several other clubs which promise to be in the thick of the fight for championship honors this season.

Meet Semi-Finalist.

This season's foes which reached the state finals last spring are Hamilton, Canton McKinley and New Philadelphia. New Philadelphia was beaten out for the Ohio title in the finals by Newark.

Hamilton and New Philadelphia are new opponents on the Mansfield schedule. Other new rivals are Cleveland West, Bellevue and Massillon, which is represented by virtually the same team which lost only one game during the regular season last winter.

Mansfield's opener with Shelby is scheduled a week from tonight. The Tygers make another out-of-town appearance at Cleveland West before making their home debut with Hamilton Dec. 16.

Prospects are rather encouraging this season with the return of eight lettermen. Coach Russ Murphy, however, realized the size of the task confronting his ball club, and refuses to comment on the possibility of the Tygers retaining the district crown.

The only players of last season's team which advanced to the state finals not returning are John Hallabrin and Elmer Dials, who are now matriculating at Ohio State.

Returning lettermen are Jack Lyons, Ike Smith, Jack Dugger, Dave Shelley, Tom Scott, Gene Rudolph, Harold Gallagher and Rich Nagle.

Listed among the outstanding prospects are Beer, Herpich, Atton, Sneeringer, Harmony, Rose, Abel, Keefer, Lantz and Weaver.

The schedule:

Dec 2—Shelby, there
Dec. 9—Cleveland West, there.
Dec 16—Hamilton, here.
Dec. 21—Canton McKinley, there.
Dec 23—Open.
Dec. 27—Strong Vincent, Erie, here.
Dec. 30—Open.
Jan. 7—Cleveland West, here.
Jan. 10—Ashland, here.

ST. JOHN'S ABANDONS ATHLETIC PROGRAM

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — (U.P.) — St. John's college, where students study "the 100 classics" instead of enrolling in the usual college courses, announced today abandonment of its intercollegiae athletic program.

Effective next fall, the college—second oldest institution of higher learning in the United States—will substitute a 'greatly expanded and exclusively intramural system" for the varsity program.

KNOWS TEAM'S ATTITUDE AT PRE-GAME LUNCHEON

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Coach Frank Dobson of Maryland university expressed a unique theory today about football prognosticating. "Let me see the players eat their last meal before the game," he said, "and I'll tell you what sort of contest they will play."

Nerves, over-confidence, too much training, and the perfect mental attitude, he explained, are noticeable at the pre-game luncheon.

REAPPOINTMENT OF POND ANSWER TO CRITICISM

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — (AP) — Raymond (Ducky) Pond, Yale head coach, and his staff of football mentors, turned to winter activities today secure in the knowledge they would be retained for the 1939 season. Their reappointment, announced this week, was an answer to alumni criticism of the season's record—six defeats in eight games—the worst in 67 years of Eli gridiron history.

FORMER TIFFIN PILOT TO MANAGE MUD HENS

TOLEDO —(INS)— Myles Thomas, one-time pitcher for the New York Yankees, will direct the Toledo Mudhens of the American association next season, President Waldo Shank of the club announced last night.

Thomas has been a coach with the Toledo club for two years, serving under Fred Haney, who has gone to the St. Louis Browns after four years here. Thomas' salary as manager was not disclosed. He formerly managed Tiffin.

RAY HENLEY RETIRED

Arizona Coach on Spot, Voted Salary Increase.

TUCSON, Ariz.—(AP)—Coach Orian Landreth of the University of Arizona seemed to be on the spot. Alumni were criticizing him.

The finance committee of the board of regents met to recommend a coach for 1939. Its recommendation? An increase in salary.

Constipated? You Should Get at the Cause!

Lots of people think they can't be "regular" without frequent trips to the medicine chest. "I just dose up and get it over," they tell you. But doctors know they don't "get it over" at all—until they get at the cause of the trouble!

Chances are it's simple to find the cause if you eat only what most people do—meat, bread, potatoes, it's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food! It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If that fits you, your ticket is a crunchy breakfast cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the great intestinal tonic, vitamin B1.

Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and just watch the old world grow brighter! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

NEW YORK —(INS)— The "for sale" sign is still up on the Brooklyn Dodgers baseball club and James J. Walker, former mayor of New York, is again, as he was a year ago, the front man for a syndicate trying to purchase the club.

Walker, the writer learned today, has for several weeks been in almost daily conference with the bankers who hold the stock of the club.

THEATERS

THIS and That: Shirley Temple was so burned up because all the other children on the Fox lot had to punch a time clock when entering the studio and she didn't, that the company installed a dummy clock which the small star now punches regularly and often. . . . Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea will have the major roles in DeMille's "Union Pacific." . . . Madeliene Carroll, in case her fans are wondering about the lovely English star, is at work in "Cafe Society" with Fred MacMurray at the Paramount studio. . . .

* * *

Submarine Chasers.

How the submarine-chasers operated during the war, how they convoyed ships through the danger zones and how they met and conquered the enemy, are facts that are little known to the general public, but they make an interesting story for "Submarine Patrol," the Madison feature. Richard Greene, Nancy Kelly and George Bancroft have the major roles, with a number of well known supporting players.

* * *

Pals Together Again.

Pat O'Brien and James Cagney who have fought all sorts of battles and buddied together under many circumstances in their co-starring movies, are a strangely assorted pair in "Angels With Dirty Faces." Both are boys who grow up in a bad district in New York City, but O'Brien becomes a priest and Cagney a killer, and their paths constantly cross. The picture is the Ohio theater attraction.

* * *

Two Favorite Players.

A Wallace Beery starring picture, "Port of Seven Seas," and a Gene Autry film are combined for the Ritz show today and tomorrow. The former is a roistering tale of a French seaport, a big, rough saloon keeper, his seafaring son and the boy's sweetheart. The Autry film, "Melody Trail" has the singing western star and Buck, the dog star in an outdoor story.

* * *

Quest for Publicity.

Lucille Ball is a temperamental star, who is an easy prey to any haywire scheme which will land her on the front page of any newspaper: Jack Oakie is the press agent who knows just how to drag a star's name through the mud and stick it in the headlines; and Bradley Page is a sucker for any wild idea, good, bad or putrid, in the "Affairs of Annabel," which is featured at the Park. "Meet the Mayor" is the second film.

* * *

Revive "Shock" Films.

With movie houses showing increased interest in "horror" films, some of the old ones are being revived, among them "The Bride of Frankenstein," with Karloff and Elsa Lanchester, and "Dracula's Daughter" with Otto Kruger, Marguerite Churchill and Gloria Holden. Both of them are being shown at the Majestic.

Life Prisoner Gives Thanks In 6,000-Word Letter

FLORENCE, Ariz. —(AP)— William Faltin, who has been in the Arizona state prison longer than any other man, and who may be there for the rest of his life, has written a 6,000-word letter thanking an Arizona woman for a $1 bill, a poppy, and some verses of Scripture.

He did not know her name and probably never will, for the unidentified woman sent her gifts through the governor's office, "for the convict longest confined in the state prison at Florence."

Faltin, who has been there 26 years serving a life sentence for murder, philosophically wrote:

"Life's length is not measured by the hours and days, but by that which we have done therein for our country and kind. A useless life is short, if it last a century, but that of Alexander was long as the life of the oak, though he died at 35.

"We may do much in a few years, and we may do nothing in a lifetime. If we but eat and drink and sleep, and let everything go on around us as it pleases, we might as well not have lived at all.

"To defend weakness against strength, the friendless against the great, the oppressed against the oppressor."

He sent with his letter a gift in return, a serving tray made in his cell.

DON'T YOU BELIEVE IT!

A loan is not difficult to arrange. It is not burdensome to repay. You are not charged for a single day longer than you have the money. Friends or employers need not know of your transaction. We do not expect you to have a first class credit rating. You are not compelled to repay by a hard-and-fast rule. Penalties are not imposed on over-due payments. You are not made to feel we are doing you a great favor. You do not pay excessive costs or hidden charges. Even those most inexperienced in business affairs will find that arranging a loan here is surprisingly easy and free from common misconceptions.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Selected stocks led by aircrafts, showed an inclination to edge foreward in today's market but many leaders failed to work up rallying vigor.

Best performances included Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Westinghouse, du Pont, Allied Chemical, U. S. Rubber, Chrysler, Standard Oil of N. J., Hupp Motors, Dunhill, Richfield Oil, Montgomery Ward and Phelps Dodge.

Fresh weakness of the British pound and French franc in terms of the dollar tended to confuse speculative sentiment to some extent. Renewed hoarding abroad and nervousness over European political affairs brought a boost in gold at London to a record high level.

Carrier bonds improved but other loans were listless. Commodities were mixed.

Studied was the summary of Dun & Bradstreet which said that, although still laggard in the recovery procession, retail spending attained a somewhat better pace during the week. Holiday demand, it was added, accounted for most of the improvement.

A sharp jump in bank clearings for the week ended Wednesday over the preceding week and the same 1937 period was encouraging to the financial sector, notwithstanding the previous week contained only 5 business days. More increases were reported from individual centers than for any week in more than a year.

COPPER MAKES HIS OWN JOB

Former Patrolman Lines Up 10 to Pay His Wages, Becomes Special County Officer.

John W. Graham, A. J. Goldsmith, Sol Bernstein, George Satterlee, C. F. Routzahn and Postmaster Herman Homberger.

Chief Bates, who seven months ago recommended the dismissal of the former patrolman following an Easter day shooting in which Copper threatened his wife and children with his service revolver, said he had acknowledged the appointment and that Copper would work directly under him on the program outlined by Judge Anderson.

Judge Anderson said today that "We hope the temporary appointment will enable Copper to obtain reinstatement as a regular member of the city police.

"He is too good an officer to be idle, and the juvenile and police departments can use him to investigate a number of recent robberies in the city that we suspect were committed by boys."

Judge Anderson added that he understood Copper's friends "are already attempting to have him reinstated." He said because of the movement, he had no other plans to have the former patrolman named a deputy in county juvenile court.

Copper, for nine years a member of the police force resigned June 20 after he had returned from the home of a relative in southern Ohio where he had been sent for a rest as a ward of probate court. He had been held "mentally ill" by Judge Anderson two days after the shooting.

Copper's mental condition was said to have been brought on over financial worries and the juvenile situation in the city. The former patrolman for the past three years had been working in plain clothes and his last year was spent almost entirely on juvenile cases in which he had taken a keen interest.

Copper, 31, lives at 401 St. Clair street. He and Mrs Copper have four children, two sons and two daughters.

SENIOR HIGH TO OPEN SERIES OF NOON PROGRAMS

New Recreation Plan Starting Monday Includes Athletic Events, Movies, Dances.

A new noonday recreation program will be inaugurated at Senior high school when students return Monday following their annual Thanksgiving vacation.

The activities will include athletic contests, motion pictures, singing and dancing. The athletic events in the gymnasium will be alternated each week with a motion picture in the auditorium.

Opening the program Monday will be an intramural basketball tournament for boys in which six teams representing each class will compete. The tournament will be played on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and will continue for at least three months.

Includes Community Sing.

The remaining two days of the week will be turned over to a community sing led by A. L. Derr, vocal music instructor, a noon dance in the gymnasium, or a demonstration in wrestling by the wrestling club under the supervision of Floyd Million. Other intramural tournaments will be held in table tennis, volleyball and indoor tennis.

Motion pictures shown will be run in serial form for one week, two new reels being presented each day. A small charge will be made for each show to pay for the rental of the pictures.

The program has been planned to provide recreation for students during the noon hour while they are not having classes, school officials pointed out. The noon hour begins at 11:30 a. m. and continues until 1 p. m. Every student has a class for 45 minutes during this time.

A committee of students and faculty members in charge of the noon hour recreation is comprised of Jesse Beer, principal, H. D. Bishop, assistant principal, Harry Mehock, Miss Margaret Clapsaddle, C. A. Byers, William Condon and Robert Meese.

Hunter's Cowbell 'Unfair' to Deer, Officials Believe

SACRAMENTO—(INS)—Officials of the state fish and game commission perused hunting laws but finally decided Gilman Lowe of North San Juan, was guilty of no violations but was perhaps a "little unfair" to the deer he seeks to slay.

Lowe claims he has a foolproof method of bagging deer and at the same time protecting himself from other hunters. He attaches a cowbell to one of his thighs and when he walks it clatters thus warning other hunters not to shoot.

And what do the deer think about it? Lowe says they think he is a stray cow wandering around and pay no attention to him.

Robert F. Tierney, jr., (above) tackle, has been elected to the captaincy of the Princeton university football team for next year. Tierney is from Pearl River, N. Y.

Superintendent of Police Edward Hubbs (above), of Philadelphia, was indicted by the grand jury on two bills, one of which charged perjury and the other, misdemeanor in office. Charges grew out of vice and crime investigation in the city.

Mrs. Elizabeth Tuttle—secret rival of Dot King, slain Broadway butterfly—is pictured in Brooklyn, N. Y., supreme court as she fought annulment suit of her husband, Donald Stewart Tuttle, publisher. He based suit on contention she kept her background secret from him.

FARM MEETINGS

Series of Six on Relation of Business Opens Dec. 12.

A series of six farm business meetings, the first scheduled for Dec. 12 at the courthouse, was announced today by County Agent George B. Ganyard.

Arranged by the county agent, the meetings are designed to provide free instruction for farmers in the proper use of soil and equipment and the relation of business and economic factors to farming.

Five farm specialists from Ohio State university will lecture at the sessions. They are Guy Miller, Earl Jones, R. D. Barden, C. L. Blackman, and Virgil Wertz.

The meetings will be held at 8 p. m. on Dec. 12 and 19 and Jan. 2, 9, 16 and 23. All of the sessions will be on Monday nights.

Idle for 6 Years, River Packet to Become Towboat

EAST LIVERPOOL—The little packet, Betsy Ann, familiar on the Ohio for many years and famous for her races with lower river boats, will dip her paddle in river service again, this time in the prosaic job of towing.

The vessel, out of service for the past six years, is being rebuilt as a towboat for runs on the Illinois and Mississippi rivers. The John Hay Co., towing contractors, will bring her out of retirement at St. Louis.

In the transportation from fleet packet to blunt-nosed tower, the boat will lose her "Texas" and the back half of the cabin. The "V" deck over her prow will be replaced with a square head, strongly reinforced for bumping barges, and towing butts. She switches from coal to oil for fuel, although the cross-compound machinery has been retained.

Capt. Fred Way, Jr., her former owner, made recent river history with the Betsy Ann when he raced her against boats out of the Cincinnati harbor.

BAR IN MUSEUM

PARIS—(INS)—Leave it to Paris to think of this one—a bar and a tea-room in a museum dedicated to science. The new Musee de L'Homme was hardly dedicated before an enterprising Frenchman opened a bar and tea-room within its walls. It takes the French, with their love of good food and lots of it, to think of such a stunt.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1938.

After Thanksgiving is passed it can't be long until Christmas.

One Ohio city has just reached the point of starting a "Sales Mean Jobs" campaign—which may remind Mansfielders that they still do.

Pipe-smoking is becoming popular among co-eds in at least one Louisiana college—but their grandmothers acquired the habit without being subjected to higher education.

Forward-Looking Program.

WITH the total of automobiles in the United States allowing one to about each five persons, it can be seen that a large percentage of the people of this country are directly affected by legislation and taxation that applies to motor vehicle owners.

During its recent convention in Cleveland the American Automobile association adopted a 16-point program for principal advocacy by its 750 subsidiary auto clubs next year. Included among these objectives are:

Eliminate politics in selecting and making road improvements; kill the idea of super-highways costing billions, the users paying tolls, repeal the un-American system requiring motorists to obtain permits to enter certain states; regulate lighted signs interfering with the effectiveness of the green and red traffic signals in cities; take steps to reduce the number of accidents involving pedestrians and bicycles, prevent extension of federal control to drivers or passenger car movements.

It should be understood, also, that the AAA is prominently identified with all sound safety programs and acts in many ways in the interest of motorists.

Such an association, with its nation-wide facilities for keeping in touch with matters affecting millions of motorists, is in position to perform an increasingly valuable service in its field.

Indirect Taxes Hit Everybody.

COMMENTING on the belief of many that they "pay no taxes," the Kansas City Star says: "The complacency of millions over taxes would be sharply upset if a few facts were allowed to sink in."

The Star then takes a survey of "indirect taxes" made by a large life insurance company and shows what the man who thinks he "pays no taxes," actually pays in taxes each year.

Out of the $960 annual income an $80 a month worker receives, he pays $10.29 a month, or $123.48 a year, in indirect taxes that have to be added to the cost of necessities he buys, such as food, rent, clothing, fuel, light, recreation, insurance and dozens of other things—about 13 per cent of his income in this case. And the tax total increases as he earns more.

The less you earn, the harder they hit you from the indirect angle, for they increase the cost of every necessity of life.

Next Nazi Victims.

AFTER Hitler's robbery of the Jews, it is expected, will come the robbery of the Catholics. A long chain of events, including recent outbreaks of hoodlumism in Vienna, may be leading up to that.

The churches are regarded as wealthy, with much property if not actual cash. The Nazi government may be saving them for its next financial crisis. Whatever could be squeezed out of them might be used to postpone bankruptcy once more, or to finance a predatory war.

And after the Catholics may come the Lutherans. The crew of the piratic ship of state, while apparently preferring to rob Jews, will rob Catholics and Protestants just as ruthlessly when the time comes Chemical Pioneering.

THE federal department of agriculture is soon to hire 25 expert chemists for experimental work in public research laboratories, which were recently authorized by congress to seek new industrial uses for farm products. Secretary Wallace is appealing to American scientists in general to put their technological knowledge to work for the benefit of agriculture.

This accords with ideas of Henry Ford, who has been urging and supporting such activity for years. Also of the DuPonts and various other groups who are experimenting and spending with unprecedented boldness in the field of industrial chemistry, and creating new and amazing forms of wealth out of materials formerly ignored or wasted.

So vast and varied is this field of exploration that it is expected by many observers to provide a new wave of pioneering, comparable to the conquest of our western plains and mountains in the last century. In plastics alone, made largely from what have been waste products, the chemists are finding a form of wealth with countless uses, which may prove more important than western gold discoveries. Such creative enterprise provides one of the answers to the unemployment problem.

Weather-Wise Whiskers.

ANYONE who likes may take it on the authority of Bill Brixey's luxuriant beard that it's going to be a cold winter. Brixey is a native of the Ozark hills of Arkansas. The hill folks of his acquaintance are said to consider him their most reliable weather sign. For the last 25 years he has never, they say, failed them.

When Bill's beard is especially heavy a really cold winter is ordained. Apparently the whiskers are cultivated, however, and not entirely a natural phenomenon.

Folks thereabouts do their spring planting when Bill visits the barber shop to have his beard cut. Those who sow their beans before the shave generally lose the crop by frost or freeze.

This is fascinating weather wisdom, if not so scientific as meteorology.

Archeologists have found a safety pin in the excavations of Herculaneum—evidencing an early start of the safety program.

Now that the new nickel is in circulation, a little more study of Jefferson and his Monticello home may be in order.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—David Sarnoff, head of the Radio Corporation of America and peer of the realm in his field, came to Washington to exchange blows with the government in the monopoly investigation, and in his first dozen sentences dropped a hint of horrors to come for unhandsome politicians.

Said Sarnoff—Television is just around the corner.

Now such a warning coming from Sarnoff is not to be biffed aside like a fly on the butter. He is on the inside track. His statement puts solidly behind all the rumors and reports of television heard heretofore.

And when it comes, what will happen to our bustle-faced politicians who have depended on their superior logic, wise cracks and stentorian voices to overcome the fact that their noggins don't look well in print?

* * *

New Major Consideration.

IT MAY sound silly, but to us it seems a better than fair bet that by 1940 one of the important considerations for a president will be:

Is he good loking? Does he have a "strong" face?

It is not to be forgotten the part radio has played in the past two elections. Roosevelt, master o' the mike, made Hoover in 1932 sound like a man with his head in a duffle bag. In 1936 Governor Landon tried to remedy his own microphone defects by studying under a voice tutor during part of the campaign. At times, such was the value of training, he could repeat a dozen "s" words without hissing one. It couldn't be said that he was defeated because of a hissed "s," but he went down trying not to.

* * *

May Become Actor.

COME another election, the aspiring candidate may well have to carry along not only a voice expert but a makeup man. He may need a stage director. If he has a nervous habit of tugging at his ear or a lock of hair while he pours his message into the air, he might lose Pennsylvania and Ohio in one swat.

The nearest thing we now have to television is the news reel talkies where the boys with messages for the public are invited to sound off. In the news reels a speaker with a shiny spot peeking out from beneath a misplaced lock is always good for a titter. Moreover, in the talkie versions, the films are edited so that a silly gesture can be cut out.

But in television the product will go directly from producer to consumer without benefit of friendly retouching. If a man has a nervous habit of twitching his nose or a way of saying "peanuts" that looks odd in closeup, he'll be no great help to the party even if he can coin great phrases like "Back to Normalcy" or "The Forgotten Man."

Young Tom Dewey, with a head of black hair, may do splendidly in television unless his crisp mustache touches the national funnybone. So far as we know, his adams apple doesn't duck up and down around his collar button. From a sartorial standpoint, Republicans might "do well with Dewey."

* * *

Democratic Possibilities.

SOLICITOR GENERAL ROBERT JACKSON is a handsome enough Democratic prospect, with a good head of hair and clean cut features. Secretary Wallace of Agriculture might do well with the farming help, as his forelock is forever dropping across his brow in a manner suggesting homely Will Rogers.

After all these things are taken seriously by party figures who remember "the Voice" that swelled the totals in the two past campaigns. A noble mein may help in 1940. Great as was Lincoln, no telling what might have happened had television put his homely face before a jibing public in 1860.

Truly it would be terrible for either party next time to be defeated by a margin of buck teeth and a receding chin.

"STRAINED RELATIONS"

The Human Side of the News

—By EDWIN C HILL

WHEN the Germans were mere barbarians, they got along with the Jews without much trouble. The Franks, Burgundians, Swabians and Frisians, German tribes which swept down the Rhine in the sixth century, were wild and rampageous and if they found any person distasteful, they zestfully clove him in two with a battle axe. Some Jews met this fate, but it always involved something personal and never such nonsense as ritual murders, protocols of Zion and Aryan race theories. These tribesmen, Clovis among them, found many Jews in Germany, traders and merchants, there with the Romans from the second century on.

So, if one takes a look at history, in the light of what is happening in Germany today, he feels that it is a wanton slander of these earlier Germanic tribesmen to compare them with the Reich.

The early German barbarians must have been a likable people. They had some quaint customs of pillage, were great fighters, as the Romans found out, and got up a looting party on short notice, but never did they poison a nation with stupid myths, never did they turn on cruel hatred and sadism like a faucet; never did they wreck homes and temples and assess their victims with the damage; never did they scourge multitudes of desperate men, women and children into penniless exile; never did they profane civilization by committing execrable crimes in its name.

Their exploits in murder and arson were impulsive and spontaneous, unpremeditated and invoked no hypocritical sanctions of national regeneration or the resurgence of their venerated "Volkgeist." Furthermore, they picked on somebody their size. Wholesome, sportsmanlike, chivalrous, generous and kind were the barbarians of those dark centuries. We cannot and would not forget the Germany of Goethe, Heine, Schiller, Lessing, Bach, Mozart, Haydn, and Beethoven! It is well to call the roll of these names, as an antidote to this infection of hatred against whole peoples and whole cultures.

* * *

ABOUT 12,000 Jews were killed by fanatical German mobs in the first crusade. They were expelled from England in 1291, and from Spain in 1492. The "Black Death," the plague which killed one fourth of the people of Europe in the years from 1348 to 1350, was ascribed to the Jews. It was said to have been caused by their poisoning of the wells. In Germany they were killed and tortured by the thousands, their synagogues burned and their property seized.

But these were unorganized, more or less spontaneous outbreaks of fanatical ignorance and brutal stupidity. Never was there anything comparable to the cold-blooded state program of extermination which exists today. Furthermore, Europe was of a more fluid make-up, before the days of the modern sovereign state. There were many small states and petty principalities, and the victims of these persecutions found many avenues of escape or havens of tolerance. And in a few decades they were always back again.

It was after one of these periods of exile that Rudiger, the Bishop of Spires, welcomed their return. He had missed their stimulus to learning and industry, and he wrote at that time: "Wishing to make of Spires a city; I thought to increase its honor a thousandfold by bringing in the Jews."

* * *

THROUGH all the long dreadful centuries of religious persecution, in which the Jews were by no means the only victims, the only bold, civilized, effective assault on anti-semitism was made by the young humanists in the late fourteenth and early fifteenth century, in the time of the great Erasmus. Reuchlin, a German disciple of Erasmus, carried through a brilliant foray against the Jew-baiters and with satire, ridicule and a devastating attack on the hoary ritual murder myth scored heavily for tolerance and decency.

Ulrich von Hutten, a young knight ridiculed the bigots in a hog-latin satire which had all Europe laughing. Somehow, they kept their heads on their shoulders. And with their great leader, Erasmus, these and other young men proved for all time that the mere rallying of civilized people against cruelty and stupidity is more effective, than counter-force and counter-hatred. And it may be that a wave of planetary laughter may yet blow this new and wickeder tyranny into some dark dust-bin of the centuries.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

SOME economist has pointed out the enormously complex set of human activities involved in furnishing the morning milk supply to a large city. It is improbable that any commissioin could plan for having the exact number of bottles of fresh milk at the exactly proper doors, and vary the supply with the daily needs of the family and the seasons. And yet, all this is accomplished as the result of forces which we hardly pause to recognize—the spirit of competitive industry, the need to make money.

In the body there also are constantly at work forces which make the complex machinery work smoothly. As I already pointed out, all the vegetative work of the body—digestion, respiration, circulation and excretion—is carried out without any conscious efforts on our part—in fact, much better than if we gave it thought.

Stimulate Organs.

At any given moment there is being squirted into the blood stream a variety of chemical substances which act upon all the different organs and stimulate them to do their work smoothly and evenly.

Many of these chemical substances are formed in the groups of glands scattered over the body, and which make up the system of what is known as the endocrine or ductless glands. They pour their secretions directly into the blood stream, not, as other glands do, through a duct into a cavity.

There are ten of these glands in the body—the pituitary in the skull; the thyroid and the four parathyroids in the neck; the thymus in the chest; the islets of the pancreas; and the two adrenals in the abdomen. If we count the gonads, there are 12.

Control Growth.

Besides influencing the vegetative functions of the body, largely through acting on the autonomic nervous system, they also control growth, the development of maturity and the growth of hair and the contours of the body.

When the functions of these glands were first discovered, and that was only a short time ago, all sorts of predictions were made as to what they would do. The human race was apparently on the verge of being made over.

"Shots of throid or pituitary hormones enable a dwarf to fit into a man-sized suit of clothes, a young boy to sing basso profundo" is the statement I find this week in a responsible magazine. Such results are very exceptional. Medical men have been compelled to revise their early enthusiasms about what these glandular extracts will do. In other articles I will try to present the most reliable modern view of their actions.

TODAY IN HISTORY

The first winter at Plymouth was a time of tragedy and suffering for the colonists who came to America in the spring of 1621. Following a perfect summer and their first harvest, they designated November 25, 1621, as their first Thanksgiving Day.

Timely Editorial

Fruit Juices.

Probably the depression had little to do with it, but an interesting and valuable new industry has come into existence since 1929. A recently issued government report says the American people last year drank about 80,000,000 gallons of canned fruit juices. That report does not include sweet apple cider, use of which has increased largely in recent years, or the more than 50,000,000 gallons of tomato juice marketed during the period.

The same report says that prior to 1929, grape juice and cider were the only fruit juices consumed in considerable quantities.

Both from the viewpoint of health and economy this new development is gratifying. The juices of fruits contain valuable vitamins and are recognized as indispensable aids to the development of growing children. On the side of economy, the fact is important that highly perishable fruits would waste if their sole marketing outlets were available only during their fresh condition.—Detroit News.

Listen, World!

What Are You—What Do You Want?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

HITHERTO your life has been pretty much of a mess, hasn't it?

Yes—there were times when everything seemed jake on the surface, but secretly you knew they weren't. Inwardly you were discontented, restless, confused—always wanting something you didn't have—dissatisfied after you got it. And many a time you've wondered, miserable, if it was possible for any man to feel settled and happy.

Yes, it is. If you could answer two simple questions, you, too, should be settled and happy.

WHAT ARE YOU?

WHAT DO YOU WANT?

These two questions hold the secret of your life's success or failure.

What are you? What sort of a person? Have you ever tried to discover? Chances are you haven't. Instead of thinking about what sort of a person you really are, you've spent your time in thinking what sort of a person you'd like to be.

When you were a little tad, you spent hours in day dreaming, imagining yourself in different roles. You were a policeman—or a beautiful actress—or a famous fighter—or a dancer—scores of roles. And, as a child, you never doubted your perfect ability to fill any of them.

Then, later on, you realized that mightn't be so easy. But still you were sure that you might be almost anything you pleased "if you could get the breaks." Meaning what? Meaning that you'd have to have money, and pull, and the right friends, and may be a chance to study. But, given these helps, you could be what you wished.

But you were wrong. We can't be "whatever we wish to be" even if we "have the breaks." We have, it is true, many sides to our natures. We are attracted by widely different personalities. We enjoy picturing ourselves in those roles. But we couldn't actually LIVE those roles.

For there are certain definite limits within each one of us. There are certain things we can—certain things we'd enjoy being and could succeed in being. And just as surely there are certain things we can't be—and wouldn't like being if we could.

Do you know what those things are, in your own life? Do you know your own capacities or limitations? Or have you gone through life following one will-o'-the-wisp personality after the other?

That's what you've really done, isn't it? And then you wondered why you were "never satisfied with your life." But the simple truth was—YOU never had any life.

Then there's that second question—WHAT DO YOU WANT?

But the answer to that is the same as the answer to the first question. You haven't known what you wanted any more than you've known what you are. You had new wants with each new personality. And so you drifted along—getting exactly nowhere.

Unhappy? Of course you were. But you kept hoping that something would turn up—that a chance would come some day and you'd "find your place in life."

But the chance has never come. And it never will come. We don't find our place in life—we MAKE it. We make it by deciding WHAT WE ARE AND WHAT WE WANT, then eliminating all the other wish roles.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Bad News Travels Fast."

There is no colorful accident, no strange circumstance for the origin of this aphorism—just truth, which has evolved the line "Bad news travels fast" and its corollary, "No news is good news."

The sentiment has found expression in almost every language.

In French, it is "Bad news has wings;" in German, "Bad news always comes too soon;" the Spanish say, "Good news is rumored, bad news flies;" the Italians, "Bad news is the first to come."

An early if not the first recorded use of the phrase in English is by Milton who wrote, "Evil news rides post, while good news waits."

Dryden phrased it "Ill news is winged with fate and flies apace."

Also—we forget the author—"Ill news are swallow-winged, but what is good walks on crutches."

Daily Bible Thought

SIN IN REBELLION: But the wicked are like the troubled sea, when it cannot rest, whose waters cast up mire and dirt. There is no peace, saith by God, to the wicked.—Isa. 57:20, 21.

A Farmer's Diary

The First Snow.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

IN the early morning, the clouds were set for rain, and a gentle southern breeze blew, like in May. I took a walk around the fields and felt the balmy air drive across my face.

Two boys were flying kites, which pulled heavily upon the thin, strong threads that held them. Song sparrows sang, and robins gaily chirped and looked for worms, but found none. The rain had not been sufficient to drive them out. Young pheasants flew about the stubble fields, contentedly gathering grain and seeds.

But my neighbor's cattle, just let loose, sniffed the air forebodingly, held their tails high, and ran uncertainly about the pasture. Our turkeys took wing and flew high into the treetops. No barometer, radio, or daily paper was necessary to announce a storm on the way.

By mid-afternoon heavy banks of clouds had gathered across the north and western sky. There was a quiet calm, when the cool damp atmosphere penetrated one's very bones. Soon heavy drops of icy mist had changed to crisp, white flakes. The air became a swirl of swiftly moving, hoary meteors that touched the earth and melted instantly, as though they had been swallowed.

Damp snow clung to everything. It outlined the bare branches, the black trunks, the roofs of houses, even the very boards of the siding. The world became a study in black and white. As I drove home from town, at evening, the icy pellets struck my windshield and danced before the headlights.

By morning the ground was white, but the day was not extremely cold, and not unpleasant. In fact, the first snow brings me a satisfaction, at this season of the year. Continuous sunshine would get monotonous. Winter on an Ohio farm is a time for coziness and hearty food, for long comfortable evenings beside a homely hearth.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—If I were good at describing women's clothes I would tell you about a couple of gowns observed at a recent Guy Lombardo opening.

But I don't know much about women's clothes, and when someone asks me to describe what someone had on I always become involved in one of those "Well, she had on a sort of dress with one of those things down the front, and it was tucked around here with a bundle of something or other that sort of curled around there before it flared out yonder, and a red belt." Maybe this sounds like double talk to you, but it is perfectly clear to me.

And so I won't ask you to draw a picture of these two gowns after I describe them. I just happened to see them and they left pictures on my mind. In technicolor.

* * *

THE first one was made out of what I will wager was gray net. Nobody told me. I just figured it out myself. And there was a lot of metallic stuff on it, as if it had been sprayed up and down the front. Those were sequins, silver sequins. It didn't have any shoulder-straps. It was very long and billowy, and when the girl walked, you could glimpse the toes of her silver sandals. Maybe they weren't sandals. Maybe they were extremely high-heeled I never saw the heels.

But what caught my eye was a scarlet velvet wrap she wore with the dress. It came about to the hips, and the collar sort of furled up in a roll like a flower that has just begun to open. And she wore a scarlet flower in her hair. I haven't the remotest idea who she was. That is irrelevant. But that combination silver sequins, silver slippers, scarlet velvet wrap and flower in her hair—like a big red-ripe cherry on top of a peach sundae, made paying attention to Mr. Lombardo very difficult indeed.

The other dress I liked and which left me pushing my cake around my plate in a dazed sort of fashion was the exact opposite. It was sort of rust color, or reddish brown, without any lines, and it sort of fell over the wearer like an extremely heavy and loose fitting robe. It hung in voluminous folds, almost like a monk's cloth.

* * *

BUT it was caught at the waist with a wide gold belt. And the lady wore a wide gold choker or something around her neck. She finished off with a gold clasp in her hair. And the effect, though Grecian in severity, was startlingly impressive and made her look like a modern Joan of Arc. I couldn't see her shoes. Nor do I know her name. But of her I can say this:

Many a Broadway actress could take lessons from her on the art of walking across the room. When she walked, time stopped. When she left the room the clocks started ticking again.

I haven't the faintest idea who designed these gowns, or how much money their creators received in payment. But whatever it was, they were underpaid.

Sinclair Lewis seems to have started something. Now it's Ludwig Bemelmans, illustrator and author of "Life Class" and many other books, who is smearing on greasepaint and having his say behind the footlights. Bemelmans is playing the role of a pompous general in Nathaniel West-Joseph Schrank comedy, "Good Hunting."

PAYMENT PLAN RIGID ON NAZI 'PEOPLE'S CAR'

Stipulations May Serve to Curb Purchases by Wage Earners, Belief.

(By United Press)

BERLIN—Observers predict a great middle class popularity for the forthcoming "People's Car," but they believe it will not bring Germany's car ownership anywhere near the ratio to population that the United States enjoys.

Germans are eager to purchase the new, light, cheap car when they learned the factory would produce it to retail at 990 marks ($396). But many changed their minds when they learned the conditions attendant upon the purchase of the "People's Car."

A considerable number of prospective purchasers objected to the installment system proposed. According to this plan a person who wants to buy a "People's Car" must pay five marks ($2) weekly and only after he has paid 750 marks can he ask for the delivery of the car. But it might still be another year before he gets it. No interest is paid him on this invested money. On the other hand, he would lose all the money if he should be unable to continue payments. Only in extraordinary cases will the money be returned. He will lose 20 per cent of it for expenses. He is not permitted to transfer his rights to somebody else. After he has paid 750 marks, he does not yet know when the car actually will be delivered to him. It still depends on how many cars the factory can produce yearly. Although it is said that after the completion of the works 450,000 cars can be produced yearly, the question arises whether 450,000 will actually be made.

Investigate Buyers.

Another inhibiting factor may well be the fear of investigations about the earnings of the purchaser. It was announced in the German press that in cases where the prospective purchaser's ability to pay the installments regularly is questioned, a Nazi official will investigate. There is apprehension that the official might ask how much is contributed to the various welfare funds and the other relations of the buyer with the National Socialist Party and its various forms. The prospective purchaser might also be advised to contribute more to the welfare funds before ordering a car.

Another problem is the upkeep of a car in Germany. Although the "People's Car" is supposed to need less than two gallons of gasoline for 100 kilometers (62 miles), the price for the two gallons is about the same as one pays for eight gallons in the United States. As the average American car needs about four gallons for the same distance, it appears that even with the "People's Car," the German would have to pay twice as much for gasoline as the American. But even if the Germans are willing to pay three marks ($1.20) for two gallons of gasoline, most of them could not afford to pay 20 marks ($8) a month for a decent garage.

ALAMEDA, Cal.—(U.P.)—An elderly woman, arrested on a charge of stealing a pound of butter, made such a pitiful plea of necessity that the judge was moved and he decided, merely as a formality, to fix her bail at $25 until some humanitarian way could be found for settling the case.

At that point, however, the defendant reached into her clothing and pulled out a bankroll from which she took $25 for bail. The law also took its course.

'No Meal Too Big For Me Now,' Says Well Known Local Man

Retired farmer says before taking Vendol even light foods upset stomach causing gas, bloating, sourness, and other troubles.

MR. LEDOM L. OYSTER

The most grateful people, and those who praise Vendol the highest, are those men and women who hadn't been enjoying their meals because they couldn't eat without suffering later. This was the experience of Mr. Ledom L. Oyster, a well known retired farmer residing at 5 Durham Ave., Mansfield, who recently gave the following account of relief to the Vendol Man in Central Drug Store, Cor. Main & Fourth Sts. He says:

"For years a bad case of constipation forced me to take a laxative almost every night, and even at that my bowel movements were never really thorough. Here of late this made my digestion go back on me. Regardless of how careful I was in the selection of my foods, I was bound to suffer with indigestion, sourness, smothering gas, acid risings, and a terribly bloated feeling. This upset stomach condition brought on other troubles, too. I would have such dizzy spells I could hardly walk without staggering, and my head seemed to ache all the time. I didn't know what it was to get a good night's rest, for my sleep was broken so many times during the night, and this made me very nervous.

"From the way Vendol helped me, it seemed it was made especially for my troubles and soon brought relief from constipation, then I got the most wonderfield relief I've known in a long time from the other troubles.

"No meal seems too big for me now, yet, I never have sour stomach gas, or bloating. My nerves eased down so that my sleep is restful and I feel better than in a long time. I've been relieved of the dizzy spells and headaches, and that tired, listless feeling has left me as well. Vendol was good to me and I feel sure it will help everyone suffering like I did."

You can't go wrong in giving Vendol a chance to help you the same way. Its Roots, Herbs and Alkalines will make you FEEL better and LOOK better. Visit the Vendol Man at the Central Drug Store, Cor. Main & 4th Sts., and learn all about it. Most all druggists sell Vendol.

GRANT ASSURES REAL PROPERTY SURVEY IN CITY

WPA to Contribute $28,000 for Project; Details to Be Worked Out Monday.

With the approval of the federal government grant for the real property survey in Mansfield, details of the project will be worked out at a conference in Mansfield Monday, it was announced today.

Paul W. Williams, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who helped to get the undertaking started, received word late Wednesday that the federal government had approved the survey.

To finance it both city and county will put up $250, and the balance about $28,000, will come from WPA.

State WPA officials will come to Mansfield Monday to confer with Chamber of Commerce, county and city officials Provides Jobs for 40.

Williams said about 40 "white collar" workers would be employed for a period of about four months

The survey, a rather extensive one, will develop facts and figures on a number of economic and sociological factors in the life of the community.

It will show the low, medium and high-cost rental areas in the city, and their respective sizes It will report on housing conditions in the city, the number of residences available and their type, will cover sanitary facilities and general living conditions

It also will investigate income averages by areas and will set boundaries of the city's industrial areas

After the facts have been gathered, volumes of maps will be prepared, showing pictorially the findings of the survey These will be made available in Mansfield

Lengthy questionnaires will be used, but Williams emphasized that all information obtained from individuals will be kept confidential and that the only use made of it will be in preparing the general findings

STATE ALLOTS $2.66 FOR EACH OF COUNTY'S RELIEF CLIENTS

The state of Ohio contributed $2 66 for the support of each of Richland county's 2,456 relief clients during October, the monthly allocation of relief funds showed today.

In all $7 852 was allotted for Richland relief work by B L. Lewis, state relief examiner.

Lewis allocated the funds while in Mansfield for his monthly inspection of relief accounts and records Thirteen of the county's subdivisions, including Mansfield, Shelby, and 11 of the 18 townships, share in the distribution.

A deficit of $3,276, the difference between the total relief costs for the month and the state's allocation to the county, must be made up by the subdivisions.

Mansfield, with 1,659 persons receiving relief, got $4,555 in the allocation. Madison township received $1,044 for its 446 relief clients. Third on the list was Shelby which got $412 to pay its bills for the month

Distributions to townships and the number of persons on relief include:

Bloominggrove $26 10 Cass, $95, 36, Jefferson, $66, 25; Mifflin, $53, 20; Monroe, $5, 2; Plymouth, $70, 30; Sharon, $15, 5; Springfield, $98, 43; Troy, $21, 8; Worthington, $32, 14.

Slightly more than $1,000 was deducted from the county's allocation to pay administration costs in the city and Madison township.

At the same time the city of Mansfield was paying off its September relief bills totaling $8 300

Payment of these accounts leaves a balance of $12,153 in the city's relief fund which was established several weeks ago through the sale of $60,500 in bonds.

Ruth Durig, deputy city auditor, said the city still owes for bills contracted by the relief department during October.

MERIT SYSTEM GOVERNS MORE MISSOURI JOBS

Patronage Supporters Lose Test Action in State's Supreme Court.

(By United Press)

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—Civil service, in one form or another, has taken a foothold on Missouri's state government.

Gov. Lloyd C. Stark, a business man, who promised a "business-like" administration, prefers not to call what has happened "civil service." He prefers "merit system."

But regardless of the name, politicians who survive through patronage, are opposed to Missouri's own new deal and have carried their fight to the state supreme court.

They received their most recent set back when the high tribunal ruled that the non-partisan conservation commission had the power to make its own regulations regardless of statutes passed by the legislature setting the fish and game seasons.

Federal Expert Hired

Earlier the court had ruled that the commission had the power to go outside the state to hire experts. As a result, the commission chose Irwin T. Bode of the U. S. Biological Survey, as director.

The commission was established by a constitutional amendment after sportsmen conducted a successful campaign to take "politics out of the fish and game regulatory business." The commission replaced the old game and fish department.

Continuing the merit system, the conservation agents (formerly game and fish wardens) were chosen by a non-partisan board after competitive examinations.

The last legislature decided that Missouri's antiquated parole system was involved too deeply in politics. A parole board was provided. It was authorized to employ agents to guide released prisoners. These agents were chosen strictly on a non-partisan basis after taking stiff examinations.

It was reported reliably that several state senators, accustomed to naming their friends when new jobs were created, tried with no success to dictate to the parole regarding appointees.

Examinations Made Difficult.

Largest group under civil service in Missouri is the unemployment compensation commission. They recently took tests which a large number of the temporary, politically-appointed employes flunked. A charge was made that the examinations were unfair but the results have stood.

The merit system got its start in this state when the legislature in 1931 created the state highway patrol. Membership has been divided equally between Democrats and Republicans but the personnel has remained on a high level because of the difficult mental and physical tests candidates are required to pass.

Competence generally has been rewarded at the state public service commission. Most administrations have retained engineers, auditors and others in technical positions whose work has been satisfactory, regardless of their politics.

Gov. Stark announced he would inaugurate a merit system at the penal institutions but some observers believe his wholesale dismissal of prison personnel during the height of the primary campaign did little to accomplish his purpose.

Speedy Farewell

After paying a visit to Secretary of State Cordell Hull in the capital, Dr. Hans Dieckhoff, recalled German envoy, poses for a new picture and prepares to depart for his homeland to report to his superiors on the "curious attitude" of the U. S. in the current anti-Jewish campaign in Germany. The farewell of Dieckhoff and Hull was speedy, lasting but two minutes. Diplomatic visits usually last from 10 minutes to an hour.

"HOT DOGS" PUT TOGETHER

SAN FRANCISCO—(U P)—Promoters of the 1936 Golden Gate International exposition are still juggling with the number of "hot dogs" which they have estimated will be eaten during the fair. This time, they have stretched the "hot dogs" out together and have figured they would reach 273 miles.

RUSH AHEAD

Huge Flow of Dollars Seen for Holiday Business.

NEW YORK —(AP)— A busy Christmas shopping season, with a huge flow of dollars going into circulation over the nation's trade counters, is foreseen by the National Retail Dry Goods association.

"Both business and the public may reasonably look forward to one of the best, if not the best, gift-giving seasons in almost a decade," said Lew Hahn, general manager of the association.

An analysis by its accounting experts, the association reported, indicated dollar sales in department and apparel specialty stores of the nation in the four weeks preceding Christmas may approximate $1,200,000,000, about the same as in the comparable 1937 period.

Before the constitution was adopted in 1789, each state had full control over its trade with all others, and some states levied tariff duties.

GERMANY FINDS STUDENT BODY DOWN BY 56,000

University Enrollment Drops Nearly One-Half in Last 7 Years, Report.

(By United Press)

BERLIN—The number of German university students has declined from 126,000 in 1931 to fewer than 70,000 this year, according to the periodical Young Germany. The survey was made before the recent ouster of Jewish students.

Seven years ago 73.1 per cent of the graduates of secondary schools who had passed "abitur" examinations qualifying them for university study entered universities, while now the number is below 50 per cent.

This condition is considered unfortunate in view of the rising number of occupations requiring higher education, the more so since interest in technical studies, all-important to the new Germany, has suffered particularly. In 1935 there were more students studying theology than the combined subjects architecture, structural engineering, mechanical engineering and electrical engineering, although the number of technicians was twice as great as that of theologians in 1929.

Had More Scholarships

The relative success of theological studies is attributed to the number of scholarships available. Similar arrangements are advocated not only for technical university students but for secondary pupils in addition to easing of entrance requirements and extensive vocational guidance.

Causes of the dearth of students, which the periodical does not examine, are probably to be found in the attractiveness of army and party careers, the length of training period for professional careers to which two years army and half a year labor service has now been added. The compulsory restriction of the number of students at some of the larger universities, which took place at the beginning of the present regime, also is considered a factor. In addition to the number of scholarships offered the relative popularity of theology may be due to the shorter study period involved and the demand for young theologians who combine religious faith with strict adherence to national socialist tenets.

DREAM OF ROBBERY TRUE

Strike Cripples Great Chicago Stockyards

Strike of livestock handlers at the Chicago stockyards cripples the huge yards. Spokesmen for the C. I. O. union said the strike was called to support demands for a signed contract providing 62½ cents an hour, an eight-hour day, a 40-hour week, time and a half for overtime and vacation with pay. Strikers agreed to ease the paralysis a bit by allowing commission men to clear the yards of cattle, sheep and hogs already in the pens and enroute.

WIN PROMOTIONS

Eight From District Given New Ranks in O. S. U. Corps.

Announcement of the promotion of eight young men from Mansfield and vicinity in the engineering and field artillery regiments of the Reserve Officers Training Corps at Ohio State university was made today by school officials.

Those promoted from Mansfield, and their rank, are Paul Flohr, lieutenant colonel; Mervin Scott, corporal, and Bradford Smith, second lieutenant. Others from the district are Harlan Rirenour, Fredericktown, first lieutenant; Bertram Deibig, Galion, captain, and Richard Magers and William Shutt, private first class, and Lowell Perkins, colonel, all of Mt. Vernon.

Preparations are now being made by alumni of the university for the annual observence of Ohio State day, Dec. 2.

In charge of arrangements in Richland and surrounding counties are: Dr. H. L. Knox, Mansfield, Richland; Dr. Ray Batchelder, Ashland; W. J. Schwenk, Crawford; Chester DeWitt, Holmes; Dr. Paul M. Gibbons, Huron, and Charles Zelkowitz, Knox.

WORLD RUSHES TO BUY PLANES FROM AMERICA

Aircraft Plants Flooded With Orders For Military Ships As Munich Aftermath.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—(U P)—World-wide rearmament programs have pushed the sales of American aircraft manufacturers to record heights. Today, with major nations frantically adding to their air forces as an aftermath of the Munich Four-Power agreement, leading plane factories are working on a 24-hour basis, and backlogs of unfilled orders are at unprecedented levels.

Sales of military plans to the army and navy constitute the principal source of orders in the industry, but the governments of Great Britain, Holland, France, Jugoslavia, Brazil, Guatemala and other European and South American countries are increasingly turning to American manufacturers to fill the demand that cannot be met by their own companies

United States aircraft production last year was valued at $56,260,105. Of that total, $37,071,160, or 66 per cent represented planes for military use. Exports of planes, engines and parts totaled $39,128,602.

Record Year Assured.

Both production and exports will establish new records this year, and leaders in the industry confidently predict further gains in 1939. They admit that armament programs are primarily responsible for the boom, although sales of transport planes are also rising steadily, if less spectacularly

Approximately 40,000 men are employed in American aircraft factories, of which the largest are located in California Four major aircraft corporations operating in or near Los Angeles reported late in October that, as a result of huge orders from Great Britain, Canada, Jugoslavia, Rumania, the Netherlands, Australia and Japan, their combined backlogs had reached an all-time peak of more than $70,000,000

The British air ministry has placed some of the largest orders recently received by American companies. The Lockheed Aircraft Corporation of California on Oct 10 signed a contract with the British government for the largest spare parts order ever received by the concern This contract, calling for $3,900,000 of extra equipment, complements the order received last June from the British air ministry for 200 reconnaissance bombers costing approximately $18,000,000

Large Netherlands Order.

Orders to be filled by this company before the end of 1939 in addition to that from the British air ministry, include a fleet of 13 twin-engined personnel transports for the army air corps, a $690,000 order for the Netherlands East Indian government, and orders from the U S navy, Aeropout Airlines and British Airways, Ltd

The Ryan Aeronautical company of California has been more active in the Central American market. On Oct 18 the company announced the signing of a contract with Guatemala for six S-T-M military training planes A similar number of S-T-M planes had been delivered to the Guatemalan air force three months earlier

BLOCKHOUSE TO BE REPAIRED

Insurance Firm Allows $300 to Restore Old Building Ravaged by Fire.

Mansfield's oldest landmark—the historic blockhouse in South park, ravaged by fire of an unknown origin on Nov. 15, will undergo extensive repairs within the next two weeks, Service-Safety Director Earl A Nist announced today.

Nist said that a settlement of $300 had been agreed upon by insurance company adjusters and that work of the repairing the structure will begin within the next few days.

Plans are being made with troop 6 of the Boy Scouts which has been using the building for meetings for the past several years to do part of the work

Nist said that the building which is owned by the city, would have to be completely re-wired for electricity, an entire new first floor constructed and the charred walls scraped.

The city also is considering placing storm shutters on the building Firemen believe that a lighted match or cigaret dropped through a broken window caused the recent fire.

SAVINGS INTACT

Deceased Widow on Relief Had $1,230 Hidden.

WOBURN, Mass.—(INS)—Death at Choate Memorial hospital has ended the unusual story of Mrs. Carrie L. Emery, 82, who lived on a $5 a week city dole with $1,230 secreted in her home. The money was found during a fire in the house.

She lived alone in the old homestead she first entered as a bride 62 years ago.

An oil stove was overturned in her bedroom Sunday filling the house with smoke. Firemen carried her to the hospital, where she died.

Investigation into the cause of the fire revealed a small tin box containing $1,230 in bills and silver.

The city may start proceedings to recover money paid Mrs. Emery in old age assistance. This would amount to approximately $1,500.

Security Office Urges Holiday Workers to Apply for One.

Persons planning to obtain temporary employment during the holiday season should be prepared by having a social security account number card when applying for a position, R. G. Mish, manager of the Mansfield field office of the Social Security board, said today.

The account cards can be obtained at the board office in the Richland Trust building and lost account cards can be replaced by application for a duplicate, Mish said.

He explained that under the Social Security act employers are required to submit reports to the United States collector of internal revenue every three months. These reports must show the names and account numbers of employes from whose wages deductions have been made for old age insurance.

Workers in Richland, Ashland, Crawford, Morrow, Knox, Wyandot and Marion counties are served by the Mansfield social security office.

Sergeant Charles Frederick Jackson of the British Army has been reduced to the rank of a private because he watered the beer in the sergeants' mess.

GIANT HIGHWAY EMERGING FROM 'DREAM STAGE'

Pan-American Delegates to See Beginning of 12,000-Mile Road Chain.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is the last of a series on the forthcoming Pan-American conference at Lima, Peru, to which the United States delegation sails today).

(By ANDRUE BERDING)

WASHINGTON — A highway starting in the northern snows of Alaska and ending in the southern snows of Patagonia gradually is emerging from the dream stage.

Along 12,000 miles of road, if the dream comes true, automobiles some day may go from Canada and the United States to the 20 republics of Latin America.

A report to the Pan-American conference next month will show that great progress has been made since the last conference at Montevideo five years ago. Great tracts of the highway are in operation. You can drive from a point considerably north in Canada through the United States, through Mexico City toward Guatemala.

Road Crosses Andes.

In the southern part of the hemisphere a highway runs across the Andes between Argentina and Chile. Argentina and Uruguay are connected by a road and ferry, and Uruguay is linked with Brazil by a highway.

In the northern part of South America the Bolivar highway links the capitals of Venezuela, Colombia and Ecuador.

In Peru the delegates to the Pan-American conference will see intense road-building activity, extending highways north and south as well as into the interior.

The huge increase in tourist traffic between the United States and Mexico which followed the opening of the highway from Laredo, Texas, to Mexico City two years ago has called to the attention of other Latin American states the profit to be gained from the American automobile tourist trade.

Experts here feel that a through land connection would bring North and South America together as perhaps nothing else could. Communication with some of the Latin American states would be greatly speeded up. Tens of thousands of North Americans would visit South America who otherwise could not do so; tens of thousands of South Americans will tour in this direction.

Geographically some portions of South America are closer by sea to Europe than they are to New York, but the highway would have the effect of bringing them nearer the United States.

This is one of the reasons the United States has shown so much interest in the road, as evidenced by congressional appropriations of well over $1,000,000. Portions of the money are being used to build bridges at key points along the projected route through central America and Panama.

Apropos of a land connection between the Americas, the conference will hear reports on the Pan-American railway, which eventually will cover the land distance of 10,116 miles between New York and Buenos Aires. Some 7,126 miles have been completed, leaving 2,990 miles yet to be built.

Canada recently has taken a direct interest in travel facilities between the Americas. For the first time she has accepted an invitation to attend the Inter-American travel conference, which will meet in April at San Francisco.

'TOPSY AND EVA' PIQUED IN PARIS

Famous Dancers Find French City Won't Pay Them What They Want.

PARIS—(U.P.)—The Duncan Sisters, Rosetta and Vivian of "Topsy and Eva" fame have been forced to forego one of their fondest dreams.

Since first appearing in the old Winter Garden Theater in New York in "Doing Our Bit" back in 1917, they have always wanted to appear in Paris. Previously when they were offered bookings their contracts for other appearances would not permit them to accept. Now, here to make recordings, they cannot accept the offers which have been made because no French music-hall or even the most exclusive of "boites" can pay any where near the price they would accept.

"It's too bad," Vivian said. "Rosetta and I have always wanted to appear in Paris. We have never played here. And now that we could manage to do so between recordings no one can any where near meet what we are accustomed to getting. We had several offers and one impressario even arranged for us to double in a music-hall and a night club but even then we could not accept."

Here with 7-year-old daughter Evelyn—the daughter of Niles Astor—Rosetta is going to make several records in French and German before returning to England to fill engagements there. The sisters have been appearing there for the last year in the largest music-halls and recording records in English.

"It's too bad," Vivian said, "for Paris is so gay and we did want to appear here."

COMBINE STRIPS FARMER

REGINA, Sask. —(U.P.)— Jack Bannister, Woodrow farmer, got a rough and hurried undressing while examining his combine in a field. The cuff of his trouser leg caught in the machinery and in a few seconds the amazed farmer slightly bruised, was left standing in only his boots.

RUMOR OF NEW NAZI DECREES ALARMS JEWS

Suicide Wave Follows Report Aryan-Jewish Marriages Are to Be Dissolved.

(UP Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN—The police round-up of Jews gained momentum today coincident with a new wave of Jewish suicides and a reported government plan to dissolve Aryan-Jewish marriages.

About 300 Jews were arrested in Vienna. Most of these were Jews without nationality or Polish and Roumanian Jews whose citizenship was not recognized.

Reports in Vienna said that more than 70 Jews had died as a consequence of the new levy on fortunes of over $2,000. The deaths were attributed to suicide, shock and other causes.

A well-informed source in Berlin understood that one of the next anti-Jewish measures would be a law virtually forcing the dissolution of all Aryan-Jewish marriages.

The law would make divorce for these Aryans easy instructing courts to grant Aryans divorces from Jews merely upon application.

Classed As Jews.

The decree would place all Aryans, who did not take advantage of it in the same category as Jews, hence they would not be permitted to operate a business, practice a profession, or draw pensions.

It was expected that practically all Aryans married to Jews would divorce them, if the law is decreed, in order to escape being classed as Jewish and also, in many cases, to be able to help their Jewish partner after divorce

Jews living in buildings owned by municipal or other public corporations were receiving notices today that they must vacate within a period of two or three months.

Although officially there is no law yet preventing them from renting other residences, it is increasingly difficult for Jews to find homes. In many cases they are forced to move in with other Jewish families.

Observers said this move was the first step toward segregation of the Jews and was designed to force Jews having large apartments to share them with other Jews.

A new order prohibited persons of part Jewish parentage, although eligible for compulsory military service, to advance higher in the army than lance corporal. This is the rank Fuehrer Adolf Hitler attained in the World war.

For the purpose of dispelling "doubts in this respect," the decree specified that no part Jews under any circumstances could be made an officer or non-commissioned officer. As a lance corporal, he would not be given command even of one private.

BRICKER STEPS INTO FIGHT OVER PENSION FUNDS

Governor-Elect Appeals to Board to Resume Payment of Funds to Aged.

With old age pensioners in Richland county and the state facing the prospect of receiving only half of their pensions for November, Governor-elect John W. Bricker intervened today in an attempt to get the social security board to resume payment of pension funds to the state.

Pension checks were ready to mail from Columbus, but pension officials said it was unlikely they would be released unless the federal board makes its last quarter allocation of social security funds to the state.

Charles P. Taft, Cincinnati councilman and brother of Robert A. Taft, U. S. senator-elect, disclosed that Bricker had telegraphed the federal board in an appeal for an immediate release of funds, held up because of a dispute between Gov. Martin L. Davey and the board at Washington.

Board Sticks to Stand.

Taft said the board had replied it would "welcome any steps" to bring the Ohio administration into line, but added:

"Without demonstration that deficiencies that have been pointed out have been corrected, there is nothing we can do."

In his appeal to the board, Bricker said: "My concern compels me to urge the board to resume payments to Ohio. It is my intention on becoming governor to provide effective administration to insure that the needy shall not be distressed because of conflict between the two governments."

If the pensons for November, due this week, are cut in half, Richland county's aged will be deprived of approximately $13,000, with each of the county's 1,150 pensioners receiving an average of only $11.

State officials said they feared the state would not be able to borrow $1,000,000 for full November payments as was done for October checks, mailed three weeks late.

2 GO TO CHAIR

Killers of Policeman and Merchant Die In Virginia.

RICHMOND, Va. — (INS) — Two men died in the electric chair at the Virginia penitentiary today for the murder of a police officer and a merchant.

Otis Cypress, colored, was electrocuted first for the killing of Frank Spratley, Surry county merchant. He was followed by George Pingley, 44, a mountaineer of Frederick county, who killed Sheriff William Newcome last February.

CHECK SCHOOL 'BLACK SHIRTS'

Oklahoma Officials Informed Students Drill With Guns at Secret Meetings.

(By United Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY — County authorities began a thorough investigation today of a "Black Shirt" organization of high school boys and girls reported to have drilled with guns at secret meetings and boasted that they were seeking a "bloodless change in the economic order."

Assistant County Attorney E. W. Brown said he would call in all known members of the society for questioning. He had not decided whether the youths were perpetrating a joke, or whether, as some teachers feared, they had been organized by adults. It was reported that there were similar high school societies in New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Los Angeles, and Youngstown, O.

The organization was discovered when authorities investigated the absence from classes of several students of Central and Classen high schools. When questioned, the youths said they had been at "C?C" meetings. "C?C" was the symbol of their secret "Curiosity Club," they said.

The club was directed by "Commissar" Milton Walser, 17, of Central high school, and "Vice Commissar" Manford Ishmael, 18, of Classen. Its uniform, for boys and girls alike, consisted of black shirts, trousers and boots. The boys were growing mustaches.

Walser explained that the club was "neither communist or fascist, but I think most of us lean a little more to the left than to the right."

HUNTERS RESCUE MAN TRAPPED WAIST DEEP IN MUCK 16 HOURS

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO — Looking back today, Mike Diglio could see something to this Thanksgiving business, after all.

On Wednesday night when he started home in the chill dusk, Mike had to admit to himself, he had a good wife and three fine daughters to be thankful for. But, on the other hand, here he was at 47, on the WPA, and got getting any younger.

In a hurry to reach his own fireside, Mike struck out along a path that meandered between dank clumps of dead grass. The short cut would save considerable time.

He tried to keep on the dry hummocks that had bubbled out of the muggy ground and sucked at his shoes when he slipped. The going got harder but Mike floundered on. Soon he was rooted fast. The harder he tried to free himself the farther down he went.

Over his shoe tops the icy ooze crept. Up to his knees it rose. Soon it reached his waist.

Mike yelled for help until his voice faded into a husky whisper and the clammy stuff rose to his arm pits Hours dragged by until a streak in the east told Mike it was Thanksgiving day.

He was about ready to give up and drop his face in the black slime. But he found strength for one more hoarse shout.

Then Mike heard an answering shout and two hunters broke into view. Sixteen hours after he had fallen into the muck, they pulled Mike free.

At the hospital where he was taken, nobody, attendants said, got away with more Thanksgiving turkey than Mike Diglio did.

CALL OFF TRIP

Parking Meter Survey Delayed Because of Weather.

A delegation of Mansfield businessmen and city officials who had intended to go to Zanesville today to survey parking meters in use in that city called off their trip this morning because of the inclement weather and icy roads.

Paul W. Williams, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said the group probably would make the visit next week providing that road conditions were beter.

The chamber and the Retail Merchants association, endorsing the meter plan for Mansfield, proposed the trip for the purpose of conducting a survey and investigation of the machines which have been in operation in Zanesville for the past six months

PURSES STOLEN

Women Lose Cash as Youth Grabs Pocketbooks.

Two women were victims of a youthful purse snatcher who struck twice within 25 minutes Wednesday night on two busy downtown streets.

Miss Mary Bowersock, 8 Gray court, told police that while she was walking on West Fourth street, just east of Bowman with Miss Theresa Hopp, of 27 Sheridan avenue, that a colored youth about 12 years old snatched her purse containing $3.50 and fled between the houses.

At 9:25 p. m., 25 minutes later, Mrs. J. A. Geiger, 173 Park avenue west, told officers that she had been the victim of a purse snatching as she neared her home.

She said her purse containing only a small amount of change was grabbed by the youth, whom police said answered the description of the purse snatcher reported earlier.

SEEKS PRISONER

Sheriff Leaves for Wisconsin to Return Mansfielder.

Sheriff E. P. Long was to leave today for Lake Geneva, Wis., to return Jacob Sutter, Mansfield, who is held in the Walworth county, Wisconsin, jail, to Mansfield to face an indictment for non-support.

Sheriff Long obtained extradition papers from Gov. Martin L. Davey Wednesday afternoon, but must have them approved by the Wisconsin governor at Madison before Sutter will be permitted to leave the state.

Sutter's name was incorrectly used as Hugh E. Sutter in Wednesday's editions of The News-Journal because Sheriff Long had that name on his papers. The error was corrected later, however. Hugh E. Sutter has no connection with the case.

Jacob Sutter, father of nine children, is accused of abandoning five of them who are minors, several months ago, authorities said.

The sheriff's records show he paid a $300 fine and served 60 days in the Columbus workhouse in 1935 on a conviction for illegal manufacture of liquor.

HELD IN THEFT

Four Youths Jailed in Fremont to Be Returned Here.

Armed with warrants for their arriest, Police Chief Meade K. Bates went to Fremont today for four youths held there in connection with the theft of an automobile radio in Mansfield last week.

Named in the affidavits filed in municipal court today charging petit larceny, are Joseph Schultz, Pittsburgh; Joseph Miller, Birmingham, Mich.; Robert Bowman, Cleveland, and William Schaffner, Detroit.

Bates said the four were taken into custody by Fremont police when they attempted to sell a radio stolen from the machine of J. W. Ingraham, 130 West Third street, last Friday.

Fremont authorities said the suspects admitted the theft after the serial numbers on the set revealed that it had been taken here.

CHARGES MATE WITH ASSAULT

Woman Swears Out Affidavit After Early Morning Row.

George B Gymer, 83 Ausdale avenue, will face Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court, tomorrow on a charge of assault and battery filed by his wife, Edith, following a family argument at their home at 3 a. m. yesterday.

Gymer was released on a $500 property bond posted following his arrest. Police said they were called to the home by neighbors who said they had been awakened by the commotion. Officers reported they found Mrs. Gymer outside the house attired in only a robe as protection against the below freezing temperatures. Police said they were told that Mrs. Gymer had fled from the house to escape her husband whom she alleged had struck her.

Tiny Baby Who 'Could Not Live' Doing Splendidly

PITTSBURGH—(INS)—Tiny Billy Baranick, who weighed exactly two pounds, eight ounces at birth, today grinned a little and uttered a few gurgles of scorn for the doctors who anticipated he would not be able to keep alive.

Arriving 10 weeks in advance of expectations, hospital attaches shook their heads sadly as they put him in an incubator. No, they said, it couldn't happen. There wasn't a chance for the baby to live.

But after four weeks in the incubator and four additional weeks under hospital care, Billy gained weight and now tips the scales at five pounds, nine ounces, so his mother, Mrs. Carolyn Baranick of Dormont, a former children's hospital nurse, took him home, where the little gentleman is doing splendidly.

Police, Strikers Clash as Tension Grows In Paris

FIVE MILLION TO QUIT JOBS BY TOMORROW

Workers Stage Mass Protest Against Ending of 40-Hour Work Week Law.

(By United Press)

PARIS—Workers fought mobile guards and police at the Renault automobile plant today while a series of strikes involving almost 100,000 men in all parts of France grew increasingly serious

Premier Edouard Daladier personally took over the ministry of the interior to forcibly put down the strikes. Albert Sarraut, the minister of the interior, is in Turkey.

The government paraded large numbers of the mobile guards through the Paris industrial region to discourage further sit down strikes. Most of the plants opened for the day without incident. The Renault plant remained closed to repair damage caused by the strikes. Some 30,000 employes were affected.

Start 'Folded Arms.'

Tomorrow 5,000,000 workers are scheduled to join the strikers with a "folded arms" demonstration against Daladier's new decree laws which would wipe out such social measures as the 40-hour work week.

Workers today awaited action by the executive council of the French confederation of labor which was to set a date and discuss plans for a general strike already authorized.

Vital armament industries were affected by today's strikes and this was particularly embarrassing to the government in the midst of its discussions with Great Britain of a unified defense plan.

At the Renault plant, 20 police and mobile guards were injured in the battle to evacuate workers, some 450 of whom were arrested. Charged with rioting, they can be sentenced to prison.

Police used tear gas in driving 2,000 strikers from the large Renault plant which is working on government aviation and other armament contracts.

The strikers used iron bars, bolts and nuts to fight off the guards. Police Prefect Jacques Langeron of the Seine (Paris) department personally directed the assault on them.

Heavy detachments of mobile guards were moving into the affected areas in all parts of France to speed the evacuation of factories held by sit down strikers.

Before attacking the Renault plant, police emptied the Bloch aircraft factories which had been held by 1,200 workers. The guards then forced the evacuation of the Renault plant and the Citroen automotive plant at Levallois.

The dinner is the second of a series for the membership.

Something new in book covers has been originated by the woodworking department at John Simpson Junior High. The covers are made from wood (plywood), finished to size and hinged. Titles and even pictures are outlined on the novel covers with an electric needle, under the direction of Charles Freehafer, instructor in the department.

There are more ways than one to kill a rabbit. Bill Kopcial, East Mansfield school instructor, for instance, employs the "drop kick" method, his hunting companions say. The other day a bunny came straight toward Kopcial. He fired and missed. The rabbit still kept coming. Kopcial kicked and caught the animal in the neck killing it instantly with a boot of about 30 feet.

A. C. Hunter, Clifton boulevard, probably is the most interested person in Mansfield in the movie "Submarine Patrol" which is being shown here. Hunter saw service in the "Splinter Fleet" as the submarine service was called during the World war, being a radio operator on an American vessel which was attached to the fleet base at Plymouth, England. During that time he saw some interesting encounters while convoying ships—incidents that are used in the film.

W. A. Cassel, 92 Dawson avenue, offers proof that this season has practically unprecedented in mildness. Yesterday he picked crisp green lettuce from his yard for his Thanksgiving dinner. The vegetable has been growing without covering until the last few days. When the freezing weather developed early this week he covered the bed with burlap. Mr. Cassel is 81 years old and has made a practice of raising late vegetables, but this was the first time in his life, he says, that he could keep lettuce growing outdoors until Thanksgiving.

FUNDS RUN LOW

Government to Ask Congress for More Relief Aid.

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Faced with the possibility of being unable to stretch a $1,500,000,000 relief appropriation until March, administration officials today considered asking congress for additional funds for the final five months of the fiscal year — February through June, inclusive.

Officials believed there was little hope of making the current appropriation last beyond the end of January.

If the president decides to ask for five months' funds, he will have to explain to congress the reasons for his action. In addition to the $1,500,000,000 appropriated by congress, there was available for relief last June aproximately $219,000,000 in funds carried over from the previous fiscal year. Of the $1,719,000,000 total, WPA disbursed $983,000,000 by the end of October. or in the first four months of the fiscal year.

PAN-AMERICAN ENVOYS LEAVE

Hull, Wilson Confer Aboard Liner as Delegates Head for Peru Conference.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK — The American delegation, headed by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, sails today for Lima, Peru, and the eighth Pan American conference.

Indicative of the close relationship of European events to the conference, Hull's final hour in America was devoted to Hugh Wilson, American ambassador to Germany, who had just returned to the United States upon urgent orders from Hull and President Roosevelt for "report and consultation" regarding Germany's anti-Semitic program.

Wilson, on the S. S. Manhattan, arrives an hour or two before Hull's ship, the Grace liner Santa Clara, sails. Authorities made arrangements to transfer Wilson by cutter direct from the Manhattan, when it reached quarantine, to the Santa Clara. Later Wilson will proceed to Warm Springs, Ga., to report directly to President Roosevelt.

It was believed his conference with Hull would have an important bearing on the United States delegation's attitude toward several internationally important questions on the Pan American conference agenda.

The Colombian minister to Germany was called home by his government yesterday in almost identically the same manner that President Roosevelt called Wilson home.

These and other developments made it increasingly probable that Germany's anti-Semitic campaign and the world problems created by the exodus of political, racial and religious refugees from Germany would be discussed at Lima.

CONGRESS LEADERS HEAD FOR CAPITAL TO PLAN NEW SESSION

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The Thanksgiving holiday over, members of congress, new and old, today headed for the capital to prepare for the 76th session, facing domestic and foreign problems of serious content.

While President Roosevelt summoned his congressional leaders to Warm Springs, Ga., the vanguard of an increased Republican minority and Democratic opposition bloc gathered in Washington for pre-session conferences regarding the legislative program

Although details of the program for 1939 were still in a nebulous state, it was apparent that anti-administration Democrats and Republicans are virtually united in demands for devision and modification of some of the chief legislative planks of the New Deal.

It was indicated that a large Democratic and Republican coalition stands ready to oppose passage of additional emergency legislation of far-reaching consequence should it be requested by the president.

Washington observers doubted whether anti-administration Democrats, from the south especially, would openly join in blanket agreement with Republicans, but it was pointed out that they could "co-operate" with the minority when they deemed it necessary.

Meanwhile, a strong coalition in the senate and house stands ready to request revision, or modification, of such legislative measures as the farm act of 1938, the national labor relations act, the social security act, tax structures, and some minor measures.

With undeclared wars raging on the right and left of the North American continent, and the general unrest in Europe, the administration's program for increased armament was expected to meet little or no strong opposition.

Legislation to rehabilitate the nation's railroad industry is held almost a certainty.

TAKEN BY DEATH

Charles Stephenson Stricken at 56; Ill Several Months.

Funeral services for Charles Edwin Stephenson, 56, of 167 South Mulberry street, who died in the General hospital Wednesday after an illness of several months, will be held at the Wappner funeral home at 3 p. m. Saturday with Rev. David N. Roller of the First Presbyterian church officiating. Burial will be made in the Mansfield cemetery.

Mr. Stephenson was born in Somerset, Ky., July 8, 1882, and came to Mansfield 36 years ago. He was a member of the First Presbyterian church and Mansfield lodge, 35, F. & A. M.

Surviving are his wife, Charlotte; two daughters, Mrs. Neal E Kolb of Springfield and Ruth at home; a brother, Atty. Robert S. Stephenson, and a half brother, Harry Graham of Mansfield, and a sister, Mrs. Harry G. Waite of Burnside, Ky.

INFANT SON BURIED

Funeral services for Glenn Lerrel Grogg, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Grogg, 54 West Augustine avenue, who died at the home Thursday, were held at Mansfield cemetery today with Rev. C. L. Kern of the Main Street Evangelical church officiating.

CONFERENCE IN HUNAN LEADS TO DEMAND FOR AID

Shanghai Hears Generalissimo Strongly Hints Showdown Due Over Policies.

(By Associated Press)

SHANGHAI — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek was said by Chinese sources today to have expressed dissatisfaction to the British embassy over Great Britain's far eastern policies and to have hinted strongly that the time for a showdown had arrived.

This was disclosed as the British ambassador, Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, returned to Shanghai from a conference with Chiang "somewhere in Hunan" province. Informed quarters said the conference might be the turning point in Anglo-Chinese relations.

Sir Archibald declined to discuss his talks with the generalissimo other than to say Chiang was "well, fit and optimistic."

Chinese sources said, however, that Chiang told the ambassador Britain had failed to carry on the traditional Anglo-Chinese relationship.

Would Get Preference.

He was said to have told Sir Archibald that unless British polices were changed and aid was forthcoming China would be forced to turn elsewhere. In that event, Chiang was reported to have said, Britain's dominance in China would fade away and the power that provides the needed help would become the paramount influence in Chinese foreign affairs.

The Kuomintang is scheduled to open an important session at Chungking, temporary capital, early in December to determine China's foreign policy for the future. Chiang was said to have urged Britain to provide assurances of positive assistance.

Britain thus was placed on the horns of a dilemma, since Japan frequently has asserted that Britain must change her far eastern policies to meet Japanese approval before peace and understanding can be achieved in the Orient.

French and American relations with China were understood to be slated for a similar frank review in conversations Chiang expects to hold in the near future with ambassadors of the two countries.

Chiang was reported to have told Sir Archibald the loss of Canton resulted largely from Chiang's misplaced confidence, in view of past relationships, that Britain would intervene if South China were threatened.

PRICE STAYS UP

Record Rate for Newsprint to Be Maintained.

NEW YORK—American newspaper publishers will continue to pay the highest prices in years for newsprint on which papers are published, according to figures released by Editor and Publisher, trade publication of the newspaper industry.

Canadian newsprint manufacturers, source of much of the newsprint, have lined up to maintain the approximate $50 per ton price, which went into effect in 1938, an increase of 25 to 25 per cent over prices in former years.

Paper is one of the major costs in the operation of a newspaper.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Allegorical Story on What Might Happen to Us If Persecution Goes On

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—So, at last, they totally obliterated the Jews from the face of the earth. The last few hundred thousand were taken to sea in old merchant boats, packed in cages and locked up tight, and when the rusty flotilla reached the appointed spot, far down in the south Atlantic, the crews and sailors opened the cocks, abandoned ship and made for the vessels of the international navy, which took them aboard and opened fire with their guns.

In less than an hour it was done. The mopping up was simple but thorough. Picket boats went among the wreckage with sharpshooters in their bows to pick off the few half-conscious floaters who had been blown free by the explosions and had grasped fragments of furniture, doors and booms. There was not one Jew left on earth, not one.

The property of the Jews was distributed according to promise, and there was now no reason why the people should fail to prosper.

Yet there were alarms, and complete trust and cooperation were lacking. The Japanese had united the Asiatics and were moving against the Russians. The Germans attacked the Poles to rescue an oppressed minority of the Sudeten precedent and Mussolini pounced on Great Britain's lifeline because, even though they were indubitably Aryans, the British were arrogant, cunning and acquisitive and honor was not in them.

* * *

"The Englishman," little Italian soldiers wrote on the blackboards in their schools, "is the scourge of the earth and must be destroyed."

These moves pitched the world into a general war in which it was difficult for any individual to distinguish friend from foe. The French fought the Germans with the slogan that there could never be permanent peace as long as any German lived and verified the slogan to themselves by quotations from Hitler's book to the effect that France must be destroyed.

The Americans held off a while, but finally pitched in against the Japanese, and the jumble became so confused that a bomber could unload his bombs almost anywhere outside his own country and find justification in some evil and menacing trait of the people living there.

* * *

Not only that, but within the warring countries individual and group hatred grew. There were still greed, lying, cheating, treachery and theft. Men swindled one another, circulated evil rumors, conspired for power, failed to pay their bills, robbed and stole. God had seemed to have the measure of their moral frailty, but they had always told themselves that it was the Jews alone to whom the Ten Commandments were addressed. With the Jews gone the thought the Ten Commandments would become superfluous if not even a little insulting—a sort of insinuation that even they were not above the sort of conduct for which the Jews, of course, were peculiar and notorious.

The Africans were wiped out early. In Asia starvation and disease destroyed millions, but the western nations were no better off. They could feed themselves better and knew of sanitation, but their weapons were much more deadly.

* * *

Still the world fought on long after the last Jew had gone beneath the waves until just two small bands were left, the freckle-faced people and the non-freckled, each claiming to be pure and to possess exclusively the virtues of honesty, honor and clean blood and each sworn to exterminate the other as the only guarantee of peace, progress and decency on earth.

It ended with just two survivors, an old man and an old woman, together in a hut. He was one-eighth freckled—that is to say, he had a few small freckles. She was of the pure, non-freckled strain.

So one night she slugged him with an ax as he slept and fell dead of the poison he had put in her soup that evening. And the horses and asses romped in the fields, never again to be beaten or overburdened; deer walked in the open, unafraid of being shot by men; rabbits and birds took courage, cities moldered and the world was purified of cruelty, dishonesty, treachery and greed.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—You may not know it, but Hollywood does: no matter what your calendar says, every year has 95 weeks.

Hollywood learned this disconcerting state of time's affairs from the Warner research department, which in turn learned it from the research group of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Hollywood is interested because, with a full list of all the "weeks" supposed to be observed throughout the land, Hollywood can anticipate each of them with appropriate "art" featuring its stars and starlets.

Even thus equipped, however, a publicity "art" man can run into difficulties. How illustrate Truth week, Honesty week, or such intangibles as APPLE GROWERS HAVE ANOTHER WEEK as allegedly observed in New York state? Reindeer week has possibilities, provided he can find a reindeer, also provided the reindeer is agreeable to posing with Olivia DeHavilland, Marie Wilson, or Ann Sheridan. (Lives there a reindeer with soul so dead he wouldn't be agreeable?) Apple week, yes—Bonita Granville munching one. Prayer week? Shirley Temple, of course.. Grandma week—that calls for May Robson. Courtesy week, well, Ivan Lebedeff will bow from the waist. International Peach week—who but Danielle Darrieux? Pride In Appearance week—Adolphe Menjou, naturally.

Whoa, here's Find Yourself week. And Go to High School week, and Bundles for Near East week. Weeks and weeks and weeks. . . . I think the publicity artman who brought all this up wishes he hadn't brought it up.

* * *

Also, by now, quite a few people are wishing that time clocks hadn't been brought up, either. Hollywood became time-clock conscious the other day when a new agreement between producers and the Screen Actors Guild became effective. Actors drawing less than $1,000 a week are supposed to punch the clock and keep strict account of working hours and overtime—and some of our best people make less than $1,000 a week.

The first concrete result was a general rush, by producers, to acquire time-clocks, the demand exceeding the supply. (Twentieth Century-Fox ordered 25, got only 10.) Actors, it was estimated, would "punch" their cards from four to eight times daily: at the casting office, in the make-up department, in wardrobe, arriving on the set, arriving for fittings, arriving for publicity interviews or portrait sittings, before going to lunch, again on returning from lunch, again on final departure.

Studios anticipated increased overhead, amount unestimated; mad scramble for the time-clocks at quitting time; lost and misplaced time cards. To avoid where possible overtime payment of players, they worked on more rigid daily production schemes.

Early returns from the time-clock front seem to bear out anticipations. Actors and bosses alike were squawking. Indicated was a general clarification of the rules, perhaps the abandonment of clock-punching in favor of some simpler form of record-keeping.

Simplest way out, of course, would be for the producers to pay everybody $1,000 a week. None of them, to date, has thought of it.

MANSFIELD MAN WEDS MAXINE E. SHRIVER

Formal Ceremony Performed at Shelby Methodist Episcopal Church Late Thanksgiving Afternoon.

A WEDDING that holds interest for a number of cities in the central part of the state is the marriage yesterday of Miss Maxine Elliott Shriver to Oscar Carl Fensch. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs David Cooke Shriver, Shelby, was given in marriage by her father before the altar of the Methodist Episcopal church at Shelby.

The bride stood before the altar, which was decorated with two six branch candelabra and white chrysanthemums at 4:30 p. m. Thanksgiving day, wearing a dress of white slipper satin. Her gown was made on princess lines, and the neck was cut sweetheart style, while the sleeves were made in the leg of mutton fashion ending in points at the hands. Tiny covered buttons formed a back closing.

Carries Shower Bouquet.

Her long train was accentuated by the fingertip length veil which she wore attached to a coronet of orange blossoms. At her throat she wore a strand of pearls, and she carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mr. Fensch, son of Mrs. Rosalie A. Fensch, 176 Newman street, was served by Edwin A. Fensch, best man, from Ashland. His ushers were Walter Fensch and Elwood Kinsey, Willard. Mrs. Kinsey served as matron of honor.

She wore an aqua taffeta dress trimmed with pink velvet. The dress was made princess style with a slight train, and she wore a tiny doll's hat of pink and aqua flowers. She carried pink roses and sweet peas.

Wed In Shelby.

The ceremony was read by Rev. Arthur Staples. Organ selections by Mrs. Otto Shoup included "Liebestraum," "L'Amour Toujour, L'Amour" and "At Dawning" during the ceremony. Harry Meirs, Mansfield, sang "O, Promise Me," "Until" and "I Love You Truly."

Mrs. Shriver wore a dress of teal blue crepe with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses and sweet peas. Mrs. Fensch wore a navy blue frock with matching accessories and a similar corsage.

A reception for relatives and friends followed at the bride's home. Mrs. John Yetzer, jr., poured.

For a short wedding trip west Mrs. Fensch wore a wine duvytine dress with matching accessories under a gray fur coat. The couple will be at home after Dec. 1 in Shelby. SOLEMN HIGH MASS READ AT ST. PETER'S Rt. Rev. Msgr. Schreiber, Akron, Performs Ceremony for Miss Rita Carroll and Joseph Charles Ziegler.

TALL CANDLES and festive altar bouquets formed the impressive background for the wedding ceremony yesterday at 9:30 a. m. which united Miss Rita Teresa Carroll and Joseph Charles Ziegler in marriage at St. Peter's Catholic church. Miss Carroll, who was given in marriage by her father, and Mr. Ziegler were married by the bride's great-uncle, Rt. Rev. Msgr. F. A. Schreiber, pastor of St. Bernard's at Akron.

Monsignor Schreiber was formerly the pastor of St. Peter's Catholic church, and he read the solemn high mass. Miss Carroll is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Carroll, 77 West Second street, and Mr. Ziegler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ziegler, Sturges avenue.

Empire Gown.

Miss Carroll wore a gown of white transparent velvet made the empire style. The sleeves were hand-embroidered leg of mutton style, and a tiara of pearls held the bridal veil in place.

The bride's only attendant was her cousin, Miss Grace Crotty, who wore a copper rust slipper satin dress. The blouse was made in the popular Marie Antoinette style, and a long circular skirt fell from the narrow waist which was fastened with an autumn tone velvet sash. The neckline was cut on sweetheart lines and the sleeves were puffed. With this the attendant wore a tricorn velvet hat in chartreuse green with a veil of illusion, and matching slippers.

Miss Carroll carried bridal roses and lilies-of-the-valley, and Miss Crotty carried Talisman roses. The bride's mother wore black velvet with a gardenia corsage and Mrs. Ziegler wore brown lace with a gardenia corsage.

The Gregorian nuptial mass was played by Raymond Baum, church organist. Monsignor Schreiber was asisted by Rev. John Flynn and Rev. Marcus Voegel.

Thomas Carroll served as candle bearer while Kevin Crotty was the censor bearer. Ushers for the altar were Carroll Crotty and Robert Jurgens. Phil Carroll was best man.

After a wedding breakfast which was served at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, Mr. and Mrs. Ziegler left for an eastern wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a brown knit suit with a shrimp pink cocktail jacket. Over this she wore a travel coat trimmed with a fox collar. Upon their return to Mansfield Dec. 1 Mr. and Mrs Ziegler will be at home at 185 West Third street.

Out-of-town guests included Miss Anna Schreiber, Scranton, Pa., Sarah Doran, Akron; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Maurer, Miss Isabel Ziegler and Mr. and Mrs. William Hammerly, Canton, and William Krause, Massillon.

Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Sneeringer and daughter, Sue Carol, Baltimore, were the Thanksgiving day guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Sneeringer, 36 Hoffman street. Mrs. Sneeringer will remain the rest of the week with her mother, Mrs C. A. Frye, West Fourth street.

Jealousy Most Hateful Trait

One In a Series.
By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

As this column has so often pointed out, to be jealous is to admit distrust of one's self. The victim of the green-eyed monster is fearful that someone — someone better, handsomer, richer, more clever, or with more advantages, will be able to snatch something he prizes highly. This prized possesion may be his wife, sweetheart, job, influence, his popularity.

Six Ways To Lose Him, Or Her.

Meantime, he lives in a state of shuddering dread that the best man may win. He hates; he feels inferior. Intolerance of rivalry has its roots in fear.

Stepmothers and stepfathers have been violently jealous of the children of their predecessors. Children locked in dark rooms, abused, even murdered, have been the victims of jealous hatred. "Mean" stepmothers and stepfathers are at the bottom of that tremendous number of youngsters who disappear yearly, while boys enlist in the Army, Navy and Marine Corps under assumed names to escape unhappy homes, presided over by these step-parents.

Lilly Langtry, one of the most beautiful women on the Edwardian era, confessed she never had known a pang of jealousy in her life. Why should he? Universally acclaimed, "the most beautiful woman in the world," sought after by "all" the eligible men in London, she had no reason to be jealous. Going back a little further, the same was true of Lord Byron, who had only to limp through a room, to have all the women fall for his Apollo-like beauty. Byron wondered what the emotion of sex jealousy could be like.

The peculiar jealousy of young wives towards husbands' mothers is another curious quirk of the green-eyed monster. Sometimes, it's the other way around, and mothers-in-law are jealous of the young wives

Downright jealousy is at the bottom of so much criticism: Literary, artistic, dramatic The critic who never gets anything across is the one who makes merry at the other fellow's success. All said and done, the green-eyed monster is about the unloveliest trait of human nature.

TODAY'S FASHION

Cheer on a cold day.

* * *

By VERA WINSTON

THERE'S nothing like a brightly-colored tweed coat or suit to bring cheer and glowing beauty into a cold day. Here we come with a grand coat that is made of soft tweed in green and burgundy-red, with plain red tweed used at collar, cuffs and down the sides of the bodice. It has covered belt and buttons. Side pieces of burgundy red tweed are continued down the back of the waist section as in the front. The coat is lined with the red and altogether is calculated to do a good job on a bad day.

Cleansing Important Factor

By MME. QUI VIVE

You'd think that any intelligent woman could keep her face clean, but the truth is that keeping skin free of dust is no simple matter. There's more there than dirt. There are wastes sent forth by the sweat glands, dead skin scales that clutter up the premises and heaven only knows how thick a layer of makeup. Some of us pile it on.

To dip a wash cloth in soapy water, skim it over the cutaneous surface, give a whisk with the towel is to fool oneself that the renovating process is all that it should be. It isn't, as the tiny black points in the pores will prove Blackheads are dirt, nothing else There may be a barricade of hard sebaceous oil in the gland to attract atmospheric dust, but even when that is not present the horrid black polka dot may be there. It may have been formed by the flourishing of a lamb's wool powder pad that would not qualify for a prize for cleanliness.

Soap is not agreeable to all skins, yet few rebel against it. It is the best of all cleansing mediums, acting as an antiseptic. If the skin is sentitive, use cream first, then soap suds with almost no friction. Follow with a tepid rinsing, a gently drying with a soft towel.

* * *

It is wise for every woman to remove makeup with a thin oil or light cream. Cleansing with a lubricant is particularly necessary if one has come in from out of doors and the flesh has been burned with harsh winds.

Shaving soap or melted soap rubbed in with the finger tips will fight blackheads better than the wash cloth. During the treatment pinch the flesh lightly to bring a glow. This pinching has a tendency to loosen the little plugs. If the black points are large, use hot moist compresses to soften them A complexion brush is helpful if the bristles are not too firm. Soft bristles mat down and are useless There is a happy medium.

* * *

Cleansing meals are recommended when the skin is unusually dry. They serve very well, the starchy contents giving the cutaneous surface a satin softness.

The time for the thorough overhauling is at night when a cream can be tiptapped into the skin, left on overnight.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Okay." Hank muttered beneath his breath.

"How stupid of me!" she said. "I've dropped my handkerchief under the table. Hank, darling, do you mind getting it for me?"

"Of course not," Hank disclaimed a trifle hoarsely, and, rising stiffly, with his back like the traditional ramrod, he stalked over to his sister's side of the table and stooped down as she had directed. When he rose, I saw his eyes go swiftly to the table she had indicated. But he as quickly withdrew them again, and his return to his seat was much easier than his leaving of it.

"Well?" Mary murmured when he was again seated.

"Sure it wouldn't be all right to give him a poke in the jaw?" Bill asked hopefully, with a side glance at me.

"I'm afraid not, Bill," I told him, "and," with a glance at my watch, "We haven't time.

"I'm through now," Hank announced suddenly.

"So am I," Bill said. Then Mary and I, who already had finished, gathered up our gloves and purses, while the waiter, gravely summoned by Bill, presented the check and was royally tipped.

Bill paid the bill at the desk, and watching the "second detective" through almost closed eyelashes a trick I learned long ago, saw him summon his waiter hastily, get his check and move toward the cashier's desk.

"To the Long Island station," Bill directed, and when we reached the train platform after the boys had bought their tickets, the tall big man was already there, evidently under the impression that Mary and I meant to take the train with the boys.

"Can we fool him, Auntie Madge?" Mary whispered, her eyes dancing with mischief.

"We could, but what's the use?" I answered. "We'd much better just let him trail us back to the Lansfield. It's the later trip tonight that we want to have shrouded in secrecy. So let us say our goodbyes to the boys now, and then get back to the hotel as quickly as possible."

"I suppose you're right," she said ruefully, "but I would like to give him a run for his money."

"We'll do that, too Mary, a little later," I promised, and then stood a little aside while Mary took an affectionate and a bit choky farewell of her two brothers.

Then it was my turn, and as I saw the real affection in the eyes of my husband's orphaned nephews, I felt my own throat muscles constrict, especially when Hank, the undemonstrative, hugged me convulsively and muttered close to my ear:

"Auntie Madge, you're the best scout in the whole world. Thank you a thousand times."

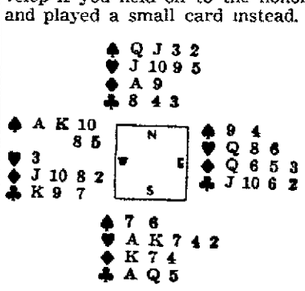
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay
"The Authority on Authorities"

HASTE MAKES WASTE

IT DOESN'T PAY to be in too much of a hurry. Taking a trick, just because you are able to, may cost you two tricks later on. If the declarer plainly expects you to play your top card on one of his leads, it is frequently wise to speculate a bit about what would develop if you held on to the honor and played a small card instead.



(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable).

South started the bidding on this deal with 1-Heart, which West over-called with 1-Spade. North and East passed and South bid 2-Hearts, which North raised to 3-Hearts and South took the contract to 4-Hearts.

After cashing the spade K, West switched to the diamond J, which South won with the K. The hearts A and K were taken, leaving East with the winning trump. Declarer then led the spade 7 and after winning with the A, West returned a diamond to dummy's A East was then thrown in the lead with the heart Q. When he returned the club J, South went in with the A, ruffed the diamond 7 and on the spades Q and J discarded his two losing clubs The club 4 was ruffed in the South hand and the heart 7 cashed. Declarer lost three tricks, two spades and the heart Q, so that he made his contract.

If West had refused the second spade trick, he could have set the hand, for South would then have had only one discard for his clubs instead of two Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable).

How should East and West defend South's 3-No Trump contract?

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, November 26.

The lunar transits bearing rule on the affairs of this day indicate many exciting, intriguing and subtle situations. There may be much to promote the personal prestige and popularity with progress and expansion in matters generally although the smooth and harmonious current of events may be jeopardized by tempest, turbulence, self-indulgence and recklessness. Notable advantages depend upon tact, self-restraint, sagacity, craft or even intrigue.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of interesting and thrilling experiences with those in places of influence and position co-operating in the increase of personal prestige and financial progress. These, however, may be imperiled by haste, rash or quarrelsome conduct, when diplomacy, stratagem or subtlety would be more effective.

A child born on this day may have many excellent endowments for success and notable achievements. It should be progressive, enterprising and constructive, and have many subtle or intriguing traits that promise popularity and prosperity. Early discipline in temper and impulsiveness is advised.

ICY HIGHWAYS HAMPER SEARCH FOR 5 CONVICTS

Prison Farm Inmates Wound Guard, Trusty in Holiday Escape Plot.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Police scoured icy west-central Ohio roads today in search of five heavily armed convicts who slugged a London prison farm guard, stabbed a trusty and escaped in stolen cars late yesterday.

The fugitives were listed as Chester Price, 25, sentenced from Preble county for larceny; Albert Kraus, 30, received from Cuyahoga county for auto theft; Otto Buchanan, 40, admitted from Hamilton county for robbery; Charles McGinley, 28, sentenced from Cuyahoga county for robbery, and Charles Fosnot, 28, of Cincinnati, sentenced for automobile theft.

Prison Farm Supt. T. C. Jenkins said the men obtained at least four revolvers from the institution's armory, knifed a trusty and pounced upon Guard W. C. Thomas as he unlocked a gate to admit Thanksgiving Day visitors.

Neither Thomas, brother of Preston E. Thomas, former Ohio penitentiary warden, nor the trusty who worked in the prison farm office, was injured seriously, Jenkins said.

Once outside, the fugitives dashed to a large white commercial car parked nearby and fled. A short time later they forced Russell Descombs from his car north of Springfield at pistol point and sped on, two in each machine.

The commercial car was abandoned a short distance farther north on the Bird road, however, and there the fugitives' trail was lost.

Jenkins said that McGinley, Kraus and Price had records of previous escapes, either from the farm or the Lebanon honor camp.

PATROL JOINS IN HUNT

Two state highway patrolmen from the Mansfield sub-station yesterday joined law enforcement agencies throughout southern and central Ohio in setting up a road blockade in an effort to capture the four fugitives.

Corporal J. E. Ruch and Patrolman C. B. Tieben were directed by radio to the intersection of U. S. Route 42 and state route 61, south of Mt. Gilead where they were stationed from 4 p. m. until 7 p. m.

One of the fugitives is a former inmate of the Ohio State reformatory here. He is McGinley, who reformatory records show was paroled Dec. 15, 1931. He was granted a final release from parole Dec. 17, 1932. McGinley was received here from Cuyahoga county on Dec. 10, 1929 to serve from one to 15 years for burglary and larceny.

$40,000 BLAZE HITS WAREHOUSE

Toledo Building, Housing Huge Stock of Wood Pulp, Burns.

TOLEDO—(INS)—Bales of wood pulp continued to smoulder today in the Jarka Great Lakes Corporation warehouse here after fire swept the building causing damage estimated at $40,000.

The building, of corrugated metal, contained pulp belonging to a group of New York brokers. The blaze was so hot at its height that it virtually melted the walls of the building.

Fire Chief Fred T. Schlorf said the fire was of undetermined origin, and probably had burned several hours before it was discovered.

RENEW FIGHT OVER ESTATE

Institutions Begin Appeal For Share of Flowers Property.

Common Pleas Judge C. H Huston today began hearing of an appeal from a probate court decision which distributed the $30,000 estate of the late Jacob Flowers of Sandusky township to more than 100 heirs, overruling a will which gave it to a Galion hospital and church and the Methodist Children's home at Worthington.

The appeal was filed by counsel for the institutions who contended they have a legal right to share in the estate by virtue of the bequests made in Mr. Flowers' will.

The probate court decision for the heirs followed a refusal of the Ohio supreme court to review a previous appeal of the religious and welfare institutions.

from Elyria and returning to their homes for Thanksgiving in another car, and F. E. Kuentz, driver of the third machine, were shaken up but uninjured.

The youths, all members of the Wesleyan freshmen football squad were Harold Geitgey, Donald Yost, W. D. Wehman, Jack Selby and Herbert Meister.

The accident took place on Lexington avenue on that section of the highway where two fatalities already have occurred this year.

Police said the collision occurred directly on the corporation line which runs down the middle of the road. The Eddy car, traveling south, sideswiped the machine driven by Geitgey, coming from the opposite direction. It then skidded across the road and back again to collide head-on with Kuentz's machine which was following the Geitgey car.

The Eddy machine, a light coach was demolished. The occupants pinned in the wreckage were extricated by passing motorists.

County Prosecutor Glenn W. Marriott was called by police and took statements from the youths and Kuentz at police headquarters.

Geitgey said that he was traveling about 35 miles and hour because of the slushy condition of the road and had skidded slightly as he came over the top of a hill where the collision occurred. He said that the Eddy car skidded at the same time and that the rear end of both machines came together.

Other witnesses said the machine then careened across the road and ploughed head-on into Kuentz's car. Kuentz told the officers that he had seen the car swerving as he came over the rise in the road and had slowed to about 15 miles an hour.

3 Hurt as Car Skids.

Other persons in the hospital, all whose condition is regarded as "good" are Charles Kincaid, 71, of Troy, his wife, 68, Mrs. Byers Howell, 49, of Columbus and Mrs. Laura Fisher, R. D. 2, Bucyrus.

Kincaid and his wife suffered head and face lacerations when their car skidded on the icy highway three miles west of Ontario on U. S. route 30S, yesterday, C. B. Tieben of the state highway patrol said.

Mrs. Howell received a knee injury when the car driven by her husband collided with a machine operated by Willis Butler of Cleveland in Lexington yesterday. Corp. J. E. Ruch of the highway patrol said Howell's car skidded on the pavement and collided head-on with the Butler machine.

Mrs. Fisher sustained head injuries when the auto she was driving skidded off the highway into a ditch near the Possum Run golf course yesterday.

Five persons were treated at the hospital at 9 15 a. m. yesterday for minor injuries received when cars operated by Walter Ober, R. D. 3, Mansfield, and W. C. Carlson, of Chicago, Ill., skidded and collided at Wooster road just east of the Park avenue east subway.

They were Ober who was alone in his car and Carlson and his wife, and Mr. and Mrs A. A. Kuss, passengers in the Carlson machine.

Martha Gusinger, 171½ North Mulberry street, and her sister Reta, were treated at a physician's office for minor injuries sustained when the car they were riding in, collided with a machine operated by Mrs. Ella Butler, 232 Davis road, at Lexington and Sturges avenues at 7:30 p. m yesterday.

Police said that Mrs Butler, driving north on Lexington avenue, had attempted to slow her car at the intersection and had skidded into the Gusinger machine.

At Galion today identification of a man who was killed on U. S route 30S, just east of the city Monday night when he ran across the highway into the path of an automobile was made through a social security card found in the lining of a spectacle case.

The card bore the name of Arthur Collins Arnett, whose home is believed to be in Bellaire, state highway patrolman said. They said that the card had been made out in Norwalk while the man was employed there but that efforts to locate relatives in that city had failed.

$15,000 FIRE

Blaze Destroys Large Barn Near Perrysville.

PERRYSVILLE—With a loss estimated at $15,000, a large barn and straw shed on the Gar Darling farm four miles southwest of Perrysville was destroyed by fire late Tuesday.

Lost with the barn were a valuable cow, several calves, a new tractor, a corn husker, and large quantities of hay, and grain.

The fire, of undetermined origin, was discovered about 3 p. m. by Leland Darling, operator of the farm, and joint owner with his father of the contents of the barn.

Rushing to the barn he succeeded in saving four mules and a dozen head of cows before he was driven from the structure by the flames.

In response to a call for help more than 100 men formed bucket lines which saved all other buildings on the farm. The loss is only partially covered by insurance.

Tuesday's blaze was the second costly fire to strike the Darling family within a period of nine years. A large barn on the same site was burned in 1929.

WINTER KEEPS GRIP ON CITY

Forecast Says More Snow on Way; Worst Blizzard in Years Hits Seaboard.

Adirondack mountains.

In Ohio, the snow ranged from about an inch in the southern part of the state to six inches along Lake Erie.

Baltimore, Md., has seven inches of snow, the heaviest fall on Thanksgiving in 66 years. The cold reached deep into the south. It was seven degrees above zero at Lubbock, Texas, and in Virginia the snow was from one to nine inches deep.

As far south as Birmingham, Ala., icy roads kept many persons who attended the Alabama-Vanderbilt football game from driving back to Nashville.

The nation's capital had seven inches of snow, with a low of 21 degrees.

At Selma, Ia., it was so cold that Gail Burkett, who had escaped from a prison camp Sunday, spent his last money on a ticket to Keokuk, Ia., to surrender and reenter the warm state prison.

In New England, hit by the first heavy snow and the coldest weather of the winter, traffic was virtually at a standstill because of glazed highways.

At Milan, New Hampshire, Wilbur Potter, a farmer and the father of seven children, was missing in a snowstorm. He disappeared while hunting deer Wednesday.

Pennsylvania, where drifts had piled to a depth of 12 feet, expected more snow in some areas today. Buses were running one to three hours late but trains were keeping close to schedule.

FIRE CLOSER TO STARS' HOMES

to the northwest of Los Angeles and Hollywood.

On the west front the fire swept to the sea, burning hundreds of homes and leaving the strand desolated for miles with the ruins of beach cottages. In other directions the fire was eating into uninhabited brushland and the Sullivan-Mandeville canyon area was the one remaining danger spot.

Approximately 15 miles from downtown Los Angeles, the two canyons open onto Sunset boulevard, a main arterial cutting through Hollywood. They begin up the brushy slopes where the fire was raging.

Mandeville canyon is dotted with the estates and ranches of movie notables throughout its three-mile length. Others are at the mouth of Sullivan canyon.

Just over the ridge, Rustic canyon was a furnace. Firemen stationed along the shoulder wetted down the brush from water tanks placed there for such an emergency. Sparks shot over them and a small area of Sullivan canyon was ablaze.

Fire Chief Ralph Scott said if the fire gained ground in Sullivan canyon they would be helpless to hold it. There are no roads nor water supply. The 1,000-foot walls of the defile are too steep for fire-fighting crews to work from them. Scott was confident, however, that the flames would be kept from reaching the inhabited canyon mouth where Actress Landi's home is located.

Many movie people had lost rustic homes further back in the mountains. Among them were Madeleine Carroll and Otto Carillo, brother of the actor, Leo Carillo.

Fifty firemen were encircled by flames which rushed up the east wall of Rustic canyon and into Sullivan. They were encamped around a ranch home and were in no danger, having an adequate water supply.

FUND FIGURES NOT COMPLETE

SHELBY—More than $3,000 short of its $15,000 goal, General Chairman L. A. Dennis said that a complete tabulation of the one-day Community Chest drive Wednesday could not be finished until the end of the week.

Although only a one-day drive was held this year, Dennis pointed out that a number of districts would not be able to report until later. The drive's total reached nearly $12,000 this morning with a majority of the workers giving their final reports.

SWISS TO RUSH COUNTRY-WIDE LINE OF FORTS

Sudden Invasion Feared in Event Neighbors Should Go to War.

(By United Press)

ZURICH, Switzerland—Switzerland, fearful of becoming the battleground of a future European war, is planning a vast new "Maginot Line" of its own.

The government's air is to safeguard the country against a possible quick invasion in event of war involving three powerful neighbors, France, Germany and Italy. It is feared that one of those countries might attempt a swift flanking movement across Swiss territory to "by-pass" the virtually impregnable steel walls along the Franco-German and Franco-Italian frontiers. Such an attack would be virtually the only way Germany or France could strike at each other without hurling millions of men against the French Maginot Line and the German Siegfried Line.

Construction of a wall of steel and concrete fortifications across Switzerland would cost vast sums, but Swiss military authorities regard it as an urgent necessity. It is expected it would extend across the country along a line from Basle through Lucerne to St. Gotthard, where smaller fortifications already exist. The scheme, however, is only in the stage of a project at present.

Alarmed by Czech Crisis.

Meanwhile, Switzerland is hastening toward other urgent defense measures following the Czechoslovakian crisis which, in the opinion of competent Swiss military authorities, found its war preparations wholly inadequate.

Several hundred small blockhouses have been built along the frontiers, while the valley of Sargens, which the anschluss of Germany and Austria made a weak link in the chain of frontier defenses, now is fortified heavily. The number of troops manning the frontiers—hitherto 10 companies—is being considerably increased, while special plans have been drawn up for speedy mobilization of all men in border districts liable to military service. Under this reorganization, it will take only a few hours for reserves to join their units.

The Swiss army, which is based largely upon machine gun units, today has a strength of about 400,000, including the recent organized territorials or "third line" troops. It has no tanks, however, and suffers from a deficiency in heavy artillery and anti-tank guns. Switzerland also possesses only a tiny air force of about 120 first line planes and virtually no anti-aircraft guns.

Plans are under way for building up the air force to a total of at least 500 planes. This, however, is expected to take considerable time as the Swiss aircraft industry still is in its infancy.

Flames Add to Destruction In Canton, China

When the Chinese retreated from Canton, China, leaving the great South China metropolis to the advancing Japanese, they set fire to many factories and power stations. Here you see British marines attempting to halt the spread of the flames that threatened the foreign residential section.

CORRECTED NOW

State Paves Way for Buying Lake Erie Park Site.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The State Conservation Council has corrected a flaw in an original resolution which had delayed purchase of 22 acres on Lake Erie by the state for park purposes.

The resolution called for purchase of 14 acres on Catawba Island and eight acres on Put-In-Bay as a "dock site" and did not specify the land was for park purposes. The attorney general refused to approve the transaction because of the improper description.

The council, at a special meeting, inserted the words "for park purposes."

The state will pay $12,000 for the 14 acres and $5,050 for the eight acres.

B. J. Hill, chief of the bureau of parks and inland lakes, said the land was bought from United Fisheries at a bankruptcy sale.

In a move to increase the use of cotton, the AAA has contracted for 1,000,000 "patterns" of cotton bagging to be used in the place of jute for covering cotton bales.

At JONES'

Every year for the past 36, we've watched an infinite number of people come in and do their shopping . . . some drove up in huge cars . . . some starry-eyed young couples walked in pushing the shiny, new perambulator; some were merry, laughing, gay, some were serious, quietly happy. They all had two things in common though in spite of their surface differences. Every one of these persons were imbued with the spirit that is Christmas. The second feeling, that all these people shared was that Jones was their store—ready to serve them with truly fine furnishings for the home.

POLICE TO MAP SINISTER DENS IN JERUSALEM

Old City's Subterranean Secret Passages Hamper Pacification Program.

(By United Press)

JERUSALEM—Detailed exploration and mapping of subterranean alleyways and passages honeycombing the Old City of Jerusalem have been started by police.

During the recent siege of the Old City many rebels escaped by underground means, and reoccupation afforded a welcome opportunity to investigate these hidden warrens.

The Old City stands on a number of hills and there are extensive quarries under the Temple Area from which King Solomon is traditionally said to have taken the stone for the Temple.

Under Turkish law anybody could build rooms on the roof of other rooms. Thus the street level has been rising steadily during the centuries. Valleys between the hills are being filled up gradually.

Building Upon Building.

Whole houses and alleys which once were on the surface now are deep underground. For instance, in the Jewish quarter of the Old City there are five synagogues all under one roof which can be reached from the street level only by descending about 30 steps. It seems that when these synagogues were built hundreds of years ago they were on street level because next to them is the Stambouli quarter, entirely underground, which until recently was inhabited by the poorest of the Jewish poor, the maimed, the blind, and beggars.

Every big building in the Old City has its cellars and underground passages. Often the inhabitants of the building themselves do not know where the passages begin and end. Formerly, it was difficult to reach these warrens. Entrances to most of them are concealed in the "harem" or women's quarters of Moslem houses, which it is not advisable for even police to enter uninvited no matter how Western the East may be becoming.

All this did not make things easier for police at a time when it was advisable for every Englishman to carry a revolver for self-defense. Nevertheless, there have been certain police officers who made it their business to learn as much about subterranean Jerusalem as possible. Chief among these was the present acting superintendent of Jersualem police, J. D. Hegerty, who came to Palestine in the early 1920s and unlike many other police, remained.

Called 'Santan's Twins.'

There are few who are better informed regarding the Old City than Hegerty. His right hand man, A. J. Eyres, also is well informed. The two are inseparable and share all their risks. They speak a fine, lively colloquial Arabic. Local Arabs call them "Satan's twins."

When British troops entered the Old City recently, it was Hegerty who was their guide. He knew just where to take them. Five separate attempts were made on his life that day. Twice he was shot at, twice bombs were thrown at him, and one attempt was made to stab him as he started to investigate an underground passage that was new even to him. He has been nicknamed "Seven Lives Hegerty."

Hegerty's qualities have been appreciated. When most of the troops were withdrawn he was left in charge of the police squad, all picked men, which took over. It is stationed in the Citadel hotel within the ancient city walls. This selected group has been significantly named the "suicide squad"—indicative of what the forces think of the pacification of Jerusalem.

OLD DIRECTORY PROVES CITY WAS 'HORSE AND BUGGY' TOWN IN '75

Mansfield was truly a "horse and buggy" town 63 years ago.

No gasoline filling stations dotted the street corners. There was however, plenty of hitching post space and at least eight concerns manufactured buggies and wagons. There were nine blacksmiths who hammered out shoes for the horses and five livery stables where 'old Dobbin" could get a snack and a nap.

Proof of this era of "one-hoss shay" days is found in a 90-page Mansfield city directory which Capt. T. M. Bell recently uncovered while rummaging through his locker at police headquarters.

The time worn volume formerly the property of J. J. Dickson, sheriff of Richland county in 1875, bears his signature in flowing penmanship

Most of the approximately 2,000 persons whose names are listed in the directory have died.

Among those listed on its pages yellowed with age is that of John Sherman, whose address was given as 251 West Market street long since changed to Park avenue west. There are dozens of others of prominence in addition to Sherman who later became a leading American statesman and then secretary of the treasury of the United States.

Charles F. Ackerman, president of the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank, was listed as "Charles F. Ackerman, bookkeeper, Savings bank, 41 West Market street."

The faded pages of the directory tell an interesting story of the various types of businesses conducted in Mansfield in that era

One establishment that has advanced through the years is the "Hairwork Shop." Mansfield had only one then. Today they are known as "beauty salons" and the business of making women beautiful has become a major industry.

Mansfield also boasted of ample hotel accommodations in 1875. The directory lists eight hotels and four rooming houses.

Real estate agents were few in those days as were architects, brewers, confectioners, millers, music dealers, sewing machine agents, plaining mills, and sporting goods dealers. Only one each is listed in the directory.

There were 19 attorneys, 28 grocers, 19 physicians, nine millinery shops, seven dry goods stores and seven haberdasheries.

Industries thriving in the Richland county metropolis 63 years ago were woolen mills, tanneries, suspender companies, soap works, shoemakers, coopers, cigar makers barometer manufacturers and a pottery.

The mayor of Mansfield was Isaac Gass and Henry W. Lemon was the town marshal, while city council consisted of eight members, two from each of the city's four wards.

REDUCES COLDS

OXFORD, O.—(AP)—A new cold vaccine was reported by associate medical director C. I. Stafford to have decreased colds nearly 50 per cent among Miami, Ohio, university students.

Dr. Stafford said that 649 students receiving the vaccine suffered only 22.5 days of illness and experienced 2.53 colds during the season. In previous years each student suffered an average of 5.17 colds, responsible for 58.3 days of illness. Many of those treated went through the entire school year without a cold.

Pittsburgh-Duke Game Tops Saturday's Grid Program

Texas Christian Faces Mustangs

Southern California Makes Strong Bid for Rose Bowl Game by Routing U. C. L. A., 42 to 7.

By JUDSON BAILEY

NEW YORK—(AP)—Maybe you thought the football season was about finished—and maybe you're about right—but in either event some of the choicest morsels remain to be fed to the fans.

Not out of "bowls" either, because at least half a dozen of the nation's foremost undefeated teams still must risk their precious necks in regularly scheduled encounters.

Four such games, topped by the Pittsburgh-Duke business at Durham, are on tomorrow's menu, competing with the pageantry of the otherwise meaningless Army-Navy spectacle.

Oklahoma Teams Vie

Texas Christian faces a dangerous Southern Methodist crew in the Southwest conference. All bars are down, too, on the Oklahoma university tussle with Oklahoma A. and M., and Texas Tech's appointment with Marquette.

Duke, Pitt and Texas Christian are all glowing prospects for any bowl and tomorrow's activities may determine in which direction each will entrain, if at all

Other attraction offerings tomorrow include: Georgia Tech and Georgia, Fordham-N. Y. U., Washington-Washington State, Oregon-Oregon State, Baylor-Rice, Louisiana State-Tulane, Florida-Auburn and Boston college-Holy Cross.

The day's long-distance prize, no matter what the score, will go to the Dartmouth-Stanford rally at Palo Alto, Cal.

After the echoes of this shouting have faded away, fans still will have Notre Dame's annual skirmish with Southern California, Tennessee's Southeastern conference contest with Mississippi and Oklahoma's tilt with Washington State to whet their interest—besides a sprinkling of other games right up until the big New Year's day blow-off.

Thanksgiving day provided a respectable share of football fireworks all over the country without disturbing the even course of the gridiron's favorite people.

Southern California made a robust bid for the right to represent the Pacific Coast in the Rose Bowl by routing the University of California at Los Angeles, 42 to 7.

Clinches Crown.

Tennessee, still with a game to go, clinched its Southeastern conference championship by trampling Kentucky, 46 to 0. Cornell slid into the Ivy league upper berth on a scoreless tie with Pennsylvania.

Undefeated Villanova mauled Manhattan, 20 to 0, and Carnegie Tech topped only by Notre Dame in a controversial game, concluded its campaign with a 14-0 victory over North Carolina State.

Cats Win Mythical State Grid Title.

THANKSGIVING football battles, fought under trying winter weather, gave Western Reserve of Cleveland, Ohio's mythical state championship and the University of Dayton a share of top honors in the Buckeye conference.

Reserve's Red Cats scored two final period touchdowns to trounce Case School of Applied Science, 13 to 3 The victory enabled Reserve to complete the 1938 season as Ohio's only undefeated and untied collegiate eleven.

Steve Belichick and Johnny Lucas crossed the touchdown stripe for the Red Cats, although battering Johnny Ries of Barberton sparked Reserve's attack.

Dayton's Fliers walloped Ohio Wesleyan 25 to 0 and thereby tied Ohio University for the Buckeye title. Stellar performances for the victors were turned in by Jack Padley and Willard Banks.

Miami University's Redskins meanwhile launched a telling last-half assault to conquer the University of Cincinnati Bearcats, 16 to 7. Jerry Williams, Miami's dusky halfback, accounted for nine units.

In another Cincinnati encounter, Xavier University chalked up its seventh consecutive victory by humbling the University of Toledo Rockets, 13 to 0 A blocked punt was turned into a touchdown by Lucas. Xavier center, in the second period. Their second tally was scored on a Nickel-to-Keller forward pass in the fourth period.

At Huntington, W. Va., the scheduled Marshall-West Virginia Wesleyan game was cancelled because of a driving snow storm

Harmon Wins Scoring Title

Gene Harmon, Mansfield Madison halfback, won the Ohio scholastic scoring championship yesterday when none of his rivals were able to overcome his lead in final games played Thanksgiving day

Harmon won the title with 146 points, with Carl Grate of Greenfield one point behind. Hillis Hume of Alliance, who needed 15 points in yesterday's game with Salem to overtake Harmon, scored only two touchdowns as the Aviators won, 13 to 0, and finished one point behind Grate.

Don Huston, Toledo Libbey, which defeated Devilbiss, 20 to 7, yesterday, tallied three touchdowns to finish in fourth place with 138 points.

Just an Ancient Hamtramck Custom

DETROIT—(AP)—Johnny Wysocki, Villanova's fine end, had the surprise of his life when his team played the University of Detroit Titans recently. Jim McMillan, the Detroit end, a colored boy, kept talking to him in Polish. McMillan played his high school football at Hamtramck, a city near Detroit where the Polish population is so large the high school eleven frequently called signals in that language. Naturally the colored star had to learn it.

Bellville Takes Freds In Opener

The Bellville high school cagers opened their 1938-39 schedule with a 27 to 17 victory over Fredericktown on the Bellville court Wednesday night. Bill Martin led the Bellville attack with 14 points The Bellville reserves defeated the visiting seconds 20 to 9, in the preliminary game.

Dr. Boz Homan, director of the Sun Bowl, announced he was telegraphing the seven Border conference schools to choose one of the two New Mexico teams for the classic. Western Reserve and Georgetown looked to be the likeliest choices for the eastern team.

Lions Can Tie For Pro Title

Win Over Phillies Will Give Detroit Share of Crown.

CHICAGO — (AP) — Knocking those Detroit Lions out of the National league title race, the Chicago Bears were ready to admit today, is as tough a job as it once was to stop the Lions' manager, Earl (Dutch) Clark.

Clark, one of professional football's all-time greats, isn't playing regularly anymore, but he's doing a great bit of piloting from the bench Yesterday, as some 26,000 fans looked on at Detroit, he watched his Lions stay in the running for the western division championship by defeating the favored Chicago Bears 14 to 7.

The victory advanced Detroit to within a single game of a tie with Green Bay for the western sectional title, which leads to a game with the eastern section winner for the all-league flag. Detroit can qualify for a playoff with Green Bay by defeating Philadelphia's Eagles Dec 4.

New York's Giants, eastern division pace-setters, scored in the final period to tie Brooklyn's stubborn Dodgers, 7-7.

Games next Sunday: Cleveland at Chicago Cardinals, Pittsburgh at Washington.

FOSTORIA—(INS)—The Fostoria high school football team surveyed a season record of 10 straight victories today and concluded that it had every right to a share of whatever mythical state honors are being dished out.

The Redmen wound up a glorious season yesterday by trouncing their arch-foe, Findlay, 13 to 0, in a renewal of rivalry which began in 1898.

The victory yesterday coupled with the winning of the last seven games in 1937 brought the total games without a setback over a two-year period to 17.

Henry 2 to 1 Favorite in Title Battle

Experts Like Armstrong's Courage Against Garcia.

NEW YORK — (UP) — Disregarding the old one about how a good big man can always lick a good little man, the citizens of New York and way stations made little Henry Armstrong practically a 2 to 1 favorite today over big Ceferino Garcia in their 15-round right for the welterweight championship tonight.

The customers are stringing along with Henry the Hammer in a fight against a bigger, heavier man Garcia stands almost two inches taller than Armstrong, he will outweigh him by approximately nine pounds and he will bring into the ring a twisting right uppercut, which is called a bolo punch and is almost as deadly as the Philippine cane-cutting knife for which it was named.

Why all this Armstrong money then? Because the cold calculators who bet on fights like Henry's eternal drive and will to win, like the way he fights 'em all from featherweights to welterweights, like the courage he showed against Lou Ambers when he swallowed a quart of blood and took so much punishment that he was an addled man and started for the wrong corner when the referee told him he had won the decision.

The one man who is not going to lose is Promoter Mike Jacobs He has $100,000 in the till right now and the attendance may reach 20,000, capacity at Madison Square Garden. If it does, the gross may reach $130,000.

Honors Big 10 Stars

INS Places Heikkinen, Weiss and Tweddell on 1938 All-America Team.

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK — (INS) — With little Davie O'Brien of the undefeated Texas Christian university eleven in the quarterback position by virtue of unanimous acclamation, International News Service today presents its All-America football team for 1938 as chosen by a poll of expert observers in every section of the nation.

To O'Brien, the mighty midget of the Southwest's prospective Rose Bowl contenders, fell the honor of being the only player selected without a dissenting vote. In many cases a special note of praise was added in his behalf to establish him as the most popular performer of the year.

Thus does the smallest member of the eleven find himself in the role of standout.

Selected Again.

Despite injuries which prevented his playing full time, Marshall Goldberg of the powerful Pittsburgh eleven retained his All-America ranking, but was moved from fullback, where he has played this season, to halfback, his position of last year. He was the only choice thus shifted.

FIRST TEAM: Wyatt, Tennessee, E; Benoir, Notre Dame, T; Heikkinen, Michigan, G; Hill, Duke, C; Tweddell, Minnesota, G; Wolff, Santa Clara, T; Young, Oklahoma, E; O'Brien, Texas Christian, QB. McLeod, Dartmouth, HB, Goldberg, Pittsburgh, HB; Weiss, Wisconsin, FB.

SECOND TEAM: Jacunski, Fordham, E; Russell, Auburn, T; Bostwick, Alabama, G; Aldrich, Texas Christian, C; Bock, Iowa State, G; Mihal, Purdue, T; Diehl, Northwestern, E; Lansdell, Southern California, QB; Bottari, California, HB; Tipton, Duke, HB; Osmanski, Holy Cross, FB.
